WALISA, TREGO FINED $1,070.50 FOR VIOLATIONS

Eveland's Court Busy as Conservation Official Presses Charges

JAIL TERMS PROVIDED

Muskrat and Other Pelts Found in Residences

A heap of smelly muskrats and hides in Justice of the Peace H. O. Eveland's court resulted, Thursday, in 61 fines and costs, totalling $1,070.50, for Roy Walisa and Allen "Buck" Trego, Circleville men.

All the fines were assessed for illegal possession of furs.

Walisa pleaded guilty to 11 charges concerning muskrats. He was fined $50 and costs on the first charge and $10 and costs each on the remaining 10 charges. Trego pleaded guilty to fifty charges. He was fined $25 and costs on each charge.

Failure of Squire H. O. Eveland's stock of legal supplies to hold out for 61 cases in one day aided Roy Walisa and Allen Trego in obtaining their release from the county jail late Thursday.

They were committed to jail on one charge each, carrying fines of $50 and costs. Additional commitment papers were to be filed for each of the remaining charges against them. Eveland said his supply of commitment papers ran out. Walisa and Trego paid their fines on the one charge and were released. Eveland announced executions will be issued for the remainder of the charges.

Two stenographers were kept busy Thursday afternoon filling out the papers necessary on the numerous charges.

Costs each for three raccoon hides, $50 and costs for one muskrat pelt and $10 and costs each for the remaining muskrat pelts. Walisa's fines amounted to $150 and costs of $60.50, and Trego's fines $585 and costs of $275. The costs for each case were $5.50. Both men were sent to the county jail until the fines are paid.

"No Suspensions"—Harlow
"I'll guarantee there will be no suspensions of any of these fines," Fred Harlow, district conservation officer, told the two men. "It is just as much a penalty to take the second or fifth pelt as the first, and each offense is an individual case."

He explained to the men the cases were filed under new regulations of the conservation department. Under the old laws the minimum fine would have been $25 and maximum $200 on each charge.

Result of Raids
Clarence Francis and Carl Blosser, conservation officers, confiscated the hides in searches conducted in the men's homes Wednesday afternoon.

Due to numerous reports of game law violations throughout the county, conservation officers are conducting an extensive campaign against violators.

Frank Huston, 28, Sent to Mansfield Pen in Death of Michigan Youth

Frank Huston, 28, of 1353 Carrie avenue, Columbus, was sentenced to one to 20 years in the Mansfield reformatory Friday morning by Judge J. W. Adkins on a charge of second degree manslaughter resulting from the traffic death of Lawrence Saylor, 18, of Monroe, Mich., Sept. 27.

A motion for a new trial was overruled by the judge before sentence was passed. Huston's case and sentence are believed to be the first in central Ohio tried under the second degree manslaughter law which became effective Aug. 19, 1935. The law involves a person who unintentionally kills another while breaking any law on the state highways.

Huston was convicted by a jury last Tuesday. He was charged with driving when intoxicated. The accident occurred on Route 23, south.

STRIKERS BEAT AULD EMPLOYE ON WAY TO JOB

COLUMBUS, Nov. 13 — (UP) — Fred Ritter, 40, D. L. Auld Co., employe, was beaten severely today while on his way to work by a group of men he said were strikers. The plant reopened yesterday after having been closed by a strike since Oct. 19.

Ritter said seven men attacked him, knocked him down and kicked him. He told police he could identify the men. He was treated for head injuries. He escaped by jumping on an automobile.

Later police arrested Carl Rhoads, 35, and accused him of being one of Ritter's assailants. Six pickets were outside the plant when it opened today. Police Chief John Dunn had 125 officers on hand but there was no disturbance at the plant.

INDIANA FARMER WALKS 15 MILES, RIDES FIVE WHILE SHOT IN HEAD

VINCENNES, Ind., Nov. 13 — (UP) — Landry Horn, 25, Oaktown, Ind., farmer, shot himself in the forehead while duck hunting.

Numb and bleeding, he rowed his boat a mile and a half to shore, walked a mile to a house, rode five miles in a wagon, drove his car 18 miles to Vincennes, walked up the stairs to a doctor's office.

The doctor took him to a hospital where surgeons removed some of the shot, said there is still more in his brain, but has "a good chance" to recover.

LOYALISTS WIN MAJOR AIR DUEL IN SPANISH WAR

Six Nationalist Planes Hit During 30 Minute Fight in Early Morning

GENERAL DRIVE LAUNCHED

Government Forces Begin New Offensive on Wide Front

MADRID, Nov. 13 — (UP) — Nationalist and loyalist airplanes fought a battle in the air over Madrid today, the first of its sort in history over a world capital, and the loyalists claimed a resounding victory.

An official communique, announcing the battle, asserted that six nationalist planes were brought down and two loyalist planes were lost.

One nationalist plane fell near the great Montana barracks, in west Madrid, it was asserted, and another near the Vallecas bridge south of the city.

Offensive Launched
The same communique announced that a general loyalist offensive was started at dawn today along the entire Madrid front, and that the battle was progressing favorably to the loyalists.

Simultaneously, a "phantom" column of loyalists from Valencia was reported to be striking at the nationalists along their lines of communication south of Madrid.

But for the moment, as the newly inspired loyalist troops moved on the offensive, Madrid was electrified by the air battle. There had been other meetings between loyalist and nationalist single planes about Madrid. But this was a battle of the air, in which 1,500,000 people watched two war fleets fight over the shell scarred streets of a world capital.

It lasted half an hour, a beautiful, terrible picture of the air of the 20th century.

YOUNG BANDITS SOUGHT IN MANY OHIO ROBBERIES

CAMBRIDGE, Nov. 13 — (UP) — Guernsey county officials today sought two young bandits believed responsible for filling station robberies here and at Woodsfield.

Lewis Bowman, 25, Cambridge, was slugged and robbed of $70 at his station late last night. His skull was fractured by the bandit's blow.

Shortly after the robbery of Bowman, John McComas, Woodsfield, was robbed of $100.

The description of the two men furnished police tallied.

CHICAGO, Nov. 13 — (UP) — University of Chicago weather bureau today reported an earthquake of "quite severe intensity," approximately 4,400 miles to the west, probably in the Aleutian Islands, off Alaska.

University observers reported the shock in three phases, as recorded on the university's seismograph. The first phase was at 7:42:15 a. m. (EST) and was followed by others.

The first shock was most severe.

Factories, Stores Boost Salaries of Employees

11 Huge Firms Join Procession in Single Day As Millions Are Added to Incomes of Workers; Others to Follow

CHICAGO, Nov. 13 — (UP) — More than a million dollars in "raises"—first of $130,000,000 they will get in the next 12 months—will shower into the pockets of America's industrial workers tomorrow, payday.

A United Press survey showed today that wage and salary increases announced in the last 16 days will add $130,000,000 in one year to the income of more than 1,000,000 men and women in factories, stores and business institutions from coast to coast.

Many of the wage increases were announced as a means of meeting higher living costs. The movement started Oct. 28, leaped suddenly after the general election Nov. 3, and showed no signs today of halting until it had swept the nation. Eleven large companies announced wage increases yesterday alone.

Many Bonuses Planned
Swelling the regular income will be at least $25,000,000 in Christmas bonuses and special payments. Thousands of workers will share, too, in the extra stock dividends declared by the owners to avoid penalties from the undivided profits tax. Extra dividends announced in the last seven days amounted to more than $160,000,000.

First large firms to announce pay increases were the Chicago packers—Swift, Armour, Wilson and Cudahy—who on Oct. 28 increased wages of nearly 100,000 employees 7 per cent, adding nearly $10,000,000 to their annual payrolls.

The steel and automobile industries waited until after the election. Average increases of 10 per cent were announced by United States Steel and its subsidiaries, and leading independent companies followed suit. The steel boosts affected more than 500,000 employees.

YOUNG FARMER SUFFERS LOSS OF LEFT ARM

Frank Chambers, 28-year-old Stoutsville farmer, suffered loss of his left arm just below the elbow Thursday afternoon when he caught the arm in a corn shredder.

Mr. Chambers was taken to Berger hospital and placed in the care of Dr. D. V. Courtwright.

The accident happened about 4:30 o'clock.

Mr. Chambers, his wife and baby, born a few weeks ago in the hospital, reside with his father, William Chambers.

C. OF C. READY TO ASSIST NEW DEAL PROGRAM

WASHINGTON, Nov. 13 — (UP) — American business leaders are ready to accept a New Deal olive branch and offer whole-hearted cooperation with administration recovery efforts, it was indicated today.

A week in advance of the annual meeting of the U. S. Chamber of Commerce board of directors, indications were that business not only will acquiesce in government efforts to enforce fair trade practices, but will seek opportunity to aid in formulating policies to that end.

The new overwhelmingly Democratic congress, it appeared, will be asked to pass legislation broadening federal powers to regulate competition in business.

Industry's attitude toward such legislation probably will be formulated when the chamber directors meet next Friday.

Reports indicated that business spokesmen, although hoping to prevent too broad a sweep of federal regulation, nevertheless will offer cooperation in arriving at workable legislation which will aid recovery.

JOHN LIST WILL ELECTS WIDOW AS BENEFICIARY

Under the will of John List, Muhlenberg township, probated Thursday, his estate is bequeathed to his widow, Maggie, during her lifetime.

At her death the property is to be converted into cash and divided equally among the children.

The will named the widow and a son, Noah, as executrix and executor, respectively. The estate is estimated at $17,200.

MAN GUARDED IN HOSPITAL

Wounded Man Charged With Numerous Robberies

JACKSON, O., Nov. 13 — (UP) — Reese Bailey, 30, prominent on the federal public enemy rolls, fell before the bullets of G-men and Jackson county officers at daybreak today as they closed in on a farm house where he had been hiding near here.

Bailey, known to federal agents as a bank robber and automobile thief, tried to escape when he heard the officers coming. Firing a .45 caliber automatic pistol as he went, Bailey dashed across an open field.

Taken to Chillicothe
The guns of 10 G-men and two local officers barked and the fugitive fell. Later, at a Chillicothe hospital, it was found he had two wounds in his legs. His condition was not serious.

The G-men were accompanied to the farm house by Sheriff W. P. Turner and Police Chief Ben Rout of Chillicothe. Bailey had been living there with his wife and three children about two months. The farm is 11 miles from here on Rural Route 4. It was alleged to have made a $2,000 down payment on the property two months ago.

Mrs. Bailey and her children, the youngest of which is nine months old, were not taken into custody but were kept in the house under guard of federal agents.

Agents searched the house and grounds in the hope of finding large sums of money believed hidden there. In the house were found two rifles, a shotgun and another small rifle.

J. Edgar Hoover, director of the federal bureau of investigation, announced in Washington that Bailey was wanted in several states.

"Reese Bailey has been known for years as a desperate criminal, operating principally in North Carolina, South Carolina and Tennessee," Hoover said. "He has been identified in the robbery of the Banners Elk bank at Banners Elk, N. C.; the Jackson county branch bank at Highlands, N. C.; and the Bank of Clayton, Ga."

Among other charges against Bailey are: robbery of the Bank of Rosalia, Wash., in August, 1935; automobile theft in Asheville, N. C.; escape from Raleigh, N. C., prison in 1932.

He was known under aliases of W. O. Byrd and Walter E. Byrd.

FRIDAY TRAGIC FOR YOUTHFUL INJURY VICTIM

MCKEESPORT, Pa., Nov. 13 — (UP) — Friday the 13th was a tragic one for George Myers, Jr., on his 13th birthday today.

Confined in a hospital with a broken leg, the boy was told by his father, George E. Myers, Sr., a WPA worker, that his mother had died yesterday in the same hospital. She had been taken there Wednesday with a heart ailment.

George's right leg was broken in a bicycle-truck collision Oct. 2.

NEGRO CONVICTS CAUGHT TRYING TO ESCAPE PEN

COLUMBUS, Nov. 13 — (UP) — Two negro convicts from Cleveland were in solitary confinement today following an attempt to escape from Ohio penitentiary, last night.

Guard E. C. Winget captured the pair near the southwest gate shortly after 1 a. m. today. They offered no resistance.

They were Herbert Colloway, 20, negro, Cuyahoga county, admitted Dec. 14, 1934 to serve a life sentence for second degree murder, and William Corbett, 20, negro, Cuyahoga county, serving a 10 to 15 year sentence for robbery.

They had been sleeping with 112 other prisoners in a third-floor dormitory. They slipped out of the room and down a fire escape to the second floor, which is used as a tailor shop. Here they selected two pairs of pants and continued on down the fire escape to the prison yard. Next they headed for the wagon gate where they were captured.

When searched following their capture, penitentiary officials found a wooden gun and a pair of wire cutters. The cutters evidently had been picked up in the tin shop.

PEARL RIVER, La., Nov. 13 — (UP) — The parish physician comes here today to establish whether a big black dog came trotting out of the scrub pine forest with a baby for Mrs. Louis Crawford or she gave birth to the baby herself — surreptitiously, to deceive her husband.

Residents of the one room shanties in the scrub pine forests — all poor in the extreme, many illiterate and superstitious — refused to believe her confession of motherhood. To most of them, the infant still was a miraculous babe brought out of the woods by a kindly dog, and Mrs. Crawford had concocted her story to regain possession of it.

But Mrs. Crawford insisted grimly that the "shame" was on her and insisted she wanted her baby back from the authorities who had taken it to a New Orleans hospital. The husband's grimey, lined face was a mask of misery. He shook his shaggy head and his drawing voice boomed:

"That's all right, honey. I'll stick by yuh."

Tuesday night the husband had returned to the one room shanty with two iron beds and a cook stove made out of an oil drum, and found his wife cuddling an infant. She had been standing on the porch in the dusk, she said, when a dog came trotting out of the forest carrying a bundle in its mouth. She had yelled at the dog, causing it to drop the bundle and trot back into the forest. She went to the bundle, was astonished to find that it contained a baby.

Among other charges against Bailey are: robbery of the Bank of Rosalia, Wash., in August, 1935; automobile theft in Asheville, N. C.; escape from Raleigh, N. C., prison in 1932.

FRIDAY TRAGIC FOR YOUTHFUL INJURY VICTIM

MCKEESPORT, Pa., Nov. 13 — (UP) — Friday the 13th was a tragic one for George Myers, Jr., on his 13th birthday today.

Confined in a hospital with a broken leg, the boy was told by his father, George E. Myers, Sr., a WPA worker, that his mother had died yesterday in the same hospital. She had been taken there Wednesday with a heart ailment.

George's right leg was broken in a bicycle-truck collision Oct. 9.

PUBLIC HEALTH LUNCHEON MEETING IS NEXT TUESDAY

The annual luncheon meeting of the Public Health association will be held next Tuesday noon in the New American hotel coffee shop. All township chairmen, heads of city and county health organizations, pastors, and health officials are invited to attend the luncheon. Final arrangements will be made at this meeting for the 30th annual Christmas Seal sale.

REESE BAILEY, SOUGHT AS BANK OUTLAW, IS SHOT

Police Chief Ben Rout of Chillicothe Assists in Morning Raid

MAN GUARDED IN HOSPITAL

Wounded Man Charged With Numerous Robberies

JACKSON, O., Nov. 13 — (UP) — Reese Bailey, 30, prominent on the federal public enemy rolls, fell before the bullets of G-men and Jackson county officers at day-break today as they closed in on a farm house where he had been hiding near here.

Bailey, known to federal agents as a bank robber and automobile thief, tried to escape when he heard the officers coming. Firing a .45 caliber automatic pistol as he went, Bailey dashed across an open field.

Taken to Chillicothe

The guns of 10 G-men and two local officers barked and the fugitive fell. Later, at a Chillicothe hospital, it was found he had two wounds in his legs. His condition was not serious.

The G-men were accompanied to the farm house by Sheriff W. P. Turner and Police Chief Ben Rout of Chillicothe. Bailey had been living there with his wife and three children about two months. The farm is 11 miles from here on Rural Route 4. He was alleged to have made a $2,000 down payment on the property two months ago.

Mrs. Bailey and her children, the youngest of which is nine months old, were not taken into custody but were kept in the house under guard of federal agents.

Agents searched the house and grounds in the hope of finding large sums of money believed hidden there. In the house were found two rifles, a shotgun and another small rifle.

J. Edgar Hoover, director of the federal bureau of investigation, announced in Washington that Bailey was wanted in several states.

"Reese Bailey has been known for years as a desperate criminal, operating principally in North Carolina, South Carolina and Tennessee," Hoover said. "He has been identified in the robbery of the Banners Elk bank at Banners Elk, N. C.; the Jackson county branch bank at Highlands, N. C., and the Bank of Clayton, Ga."

Among other charges against Bailey are: robbery of the Bank of Rosalia, Wash., in August, 1935; automobile theft in Asheville, N. C.; escape from Raleigh, N. C., prison in 1932.

He was known under aliases of W. O. Byrd and Walter E. Byrd.

FORMER JUDGE, ARMY OFFICER HELD IN DEATH

Murder Charge is Placed Against H. M. Denhardt in New Castle, Ky.

WIDOW, 40, FOUND SLAIN

Defendant Hero of World War; Served on Bench

NEW CASTLE, Ky., Nov. 13 — (UP) — Former Lieutenant Governor Henry M. Denhardt, restrained by his attorneys from telling all he knew about the death of his fiancée, Mrs. Verna Taylor, was held today under bond on a murder charge.

Denhardt, a World War hero, war veterans commander and former church official and judge, was arrested when he refused "on advice of counsel" to testify at the inquest. Sheriff Evon Harod immediately served a murder warrant sworn out by Mrs. Taylor's brother, E. S. Carr.

Mrs. Taylor, attractive 40-year-old widow and laundry operator, died the night of Nov. 6 from a bullet fired from Denhardt's .45 calibre automatic. Denhardt found the body.

Story Told Police
Denhardt told police he and Mrs. Taylor went for a ride, and their car stalled near La Grange, in Oldham county. He went for aid, leaving Mrs. Taylor alone in the car, Denhardt said. When he returned he saw Mrs. Taylor

Getting Your Exercise by Walking, Breathing

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

Dr. Clending

mal exercise and yet is always in good shape, gets his exercise by proper walking and breathing.

Walking—I think we can agree that walking is a good exercise, provided you know how to walk. Two people who go walking together and, therefore, traverse the same distance, will come back, one of them feeling refreshed and the other exhausted. Mr. Denhardt believes, and I cannot gainsay him because I have tried it myself and find it works, that we should walk not so much from the hips as with the hips. The hips should move alternately back and forth without a great deal of compensatory movement in the shoulders.

A matter that is not mentioned in Mr. Denhardt's little book, which I think is the whole secret of walking for profit, is to do so reasonably rapidly with a rhythm of the whole body, the legs and arms moving back and forth like a trotter (that is the right arm forward while the left leg is forward), the whole thing done with some zest and zip.

Walkers Carry Canes

The best walker carries a cane while walking. This seems to be going out of fashion in America, but should be revived. The cane gives a walk more verve. The walker gets more exercise. It puts him in the psychological attitude to get the most out of a walk because it makes him feel more alive. The good walker moves along, in Julian Hawthorne's phrase, "As light as a cork on water."

Breathing is another form of exercise, although we do not often think of it in that light. Much could be done to insure good posture by teaching the young to breathe properly. I agree with Mr. Denhardt that this does not mean deep breathing. Deep breathing, in which you fill the bottom of the lungs so that the abdomen is forced out, is not necessary healthy and vital breathing. In fact, it's quite easy to breathe too much by forced respiration.

Although many doctors and physical instructors taught abdominal breathing for a long while, it is really unphysiological. The best breathing is using the ribs, and especially the upper part of the chest, with the body erect and the chin up. This is a purely natural movement and yet the best form of breathing.

"It is a curious thing," said Mr. Alan Calvert, "that the more you think about using the chest muscles, the less air you get into your lungs."

No one should take forced breathing exercises, but allow nature's regulator to determine the number of respirations used a minute.

I imagine that the natural strong man uses his muscles a good deal more than he appears to do. His natural inner vitality makes him instinctively walk when others ride, move the chairs out for the ladies before anybody else gets started, set up and take down the bridge table, walk upstairs instead of waiting for the elevator. While the fellow who has to push himself to exercise does it in the gymnasium, says "That's that," and lets it go for the day.

sprawled in a ditch 250 yards from the car, dead. His gun lay beside the body.

Nine witnesses, including Denhardt, were subpoenaed for the inquest yesterday before Judge A. S. Morgan, of McHenry county circuit court. Denhardt was sum-

THE New Ford V-8 for 1937 is the most beautiful Ford car ever offered. It is built in only one size—with one standard of roomy comfort and modern appearance. But you may have either the improved 85-horsepower V-8 engine for maximum performance—or the new 60-horsepower V-8 engine for maximum economy. The smaller engine makes possible a lighter car—with lower operating costs.

Improved 85-horsepower V-8 engine—Drive it and watch the speedometer!

When you drive the 1937 Ford powered with the 85-horsepower V-8 engine, you are master of a modern power plant that gives you everything you can possibly demand in speed and acceleration. It is a better engine than ever—with a better cooling system and new smoothness of operation. Yet improved carburetion enables it to deliver its thrilling performance with unusually good gasoline mileage.

New 60-horsepower engine—Drive it and watch the fuel gage!

The new 60-horsepower V-type 8-cylinder engine is almost an exact replica of the "85"—except for size, weight and power. It delivers V-8 smoothness and quietness—even at speeds up to 70 miles an hour—with gasoline mileage so high that it creates an entirely new standard of economy in modern motor car operation.

We invite you to see this new Ford car, and arrange to drive one equipped with the engine that fits your own needs.

NEW FEATURES OF THE 1937 FORD V-8 CAR

APPEARANCE—A newly designed car—wide and roomy, with a low center of gravity. Distinctive front end, with headlamps recessed in fender aprons. Modern lid-type hood hinged at the back. Larger luggage space. Spare tire enclosed within body. Completely new interiors. The slanting V-type windshield opens in closed cars.

ENGINES—A choice of the improved V-8 85-horsepower engine or the new V-8 60-horsepower engine. More efficient cooling. Quieter performance. New economy.

COMFORT AND QUIET—By every modern standard of design, the 1937 Ford V-8 is a big, roomy car. Extra space is in the body, where you want it—not taken up by the engine under the hood. Comfort of the Ford Center-Poise Ride is further increased by smoother action of the long-tapering springs, with new pressure lubrication. New methods of mounting body and engine make this a quieter car.

SAFETY

BRAKES—New Easy-Action Safety Brakes, of the cable and conduit control type. Positive and direct—"the safety of steel from pedal to wheel." Self-energizing—car momentum is used to help apply the brakes. About one-third less pedal pressure is required to stop the car.

BODY—All-steel body construction. Not an ounce of wood used for structural strength. Frame structure is all steel—sheathed with steel panels, top, sides and floor. All are welded into a single steel unit of great protective strength. Safety Glass all around at no extra charge.

Getting Your Exercise by Walking, Breathing

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.
WE SPOKE yesterday of the amount of vitality that can be extracted from proper standing and sitting. I do not know that I agree

Dr. Clendenning

with Mr. Arthur Devan in saying that these are exercises, but if proper standing and sitting give you a feeling of vitality and verve, that is all you expect of exercises, anyway.

The "natural strong man" who never takes any formal exercise and yet is always in good shape, gets his exercise by proper walking and breathing.

Walking—I think we can agree moned as the first witness. He was willing to "tell everything," he said, but was advised by his attorneys not to do so.

Denhardt was arrested, the other inquest witnesses were sent home, and Coroner D. L. Ricketts obtained a postponement of the inquest.

Denhardt said he believed his fiance killed herself, because her two daughters opposed their marriage. He was released on $25,000 bond, and ordered to appear for preliminary hearing before Judge
Morgan the same day the inquest is to be resumed, Nov. 20.

Denhardt, 60, has occupied high positions in Kentucky social and political activity. He was graduated from Cumberland university in 1899 with a law degree and was admitted to the bar the same year.

YOUTHFUL DEATH AUTO OPERATOR ON TRIAL DEC. 3

Harold Edwards in Denial
of Manslaughter as Two
Girls Are Killed

THIRD VICTIM RECOVERS

Reunion Near Laurelville
Scene of Tragedy

LOGAN, Nov. 13 — Harold Edwards of Haynes, near Laurelville, goes on trial Dec. 3 in Hocking county common pleas court for manslaughter in the death of Turley Jackson and Ruth Elick, Hocking county girls, who were struck by his automobile last fall.

Edwards was arraigned in the Logan court after a grand jury indictment. The youth pleaded not guilty and was placed under bond of $2,000.

The Jackson and Elick girls were killed when Edwards drove his automobile at them during a reunion south of Laurelville. He did it as a "prank", he said, but both girls died of their injuries. A third, Florence Miller of Rockbridge, was injured seriously, but has improved sufficiently to leave Cherrington hospital, Logan. She suffered a fractured leg.

Young Edwards is free under $2,000 bond.

TWO GIRLS SENT TO COUNTY JAIL IN STORE THEFT

Clara O'Neill, 23, and Othella Smales, 22, both of Jackson, held by police on two charges of shoplifting, were fined $25 and costs on each charge Thursday night by Mayor W. J. Graham and committed to the county jail. Both pleaded guilty.

They were charged with taking merchandise from the Penney store and Crist's department store. The case of a third girl held by police has not been heard.

YOUTHFUL DEATH AUTO OPERATOR ON TRIAL DEC. 3

Harold Edwards in Denial
of Manslaughter as Two
Girls Are Killed

THIRD VICTIM RECOVERS

Reunion Near Laurelville
Scene of Tragedy

LOGAN, Nov. 13 — Harold Edwards of Haynes, near Laurelville, goes on trial Dec. 3 in Hocking county common pleas court for manslaughter in the death of Turley Jackson and Ruth Elick, Hocking county girls, who were struck by his automobile last fall.

Edwards was arraigned in the Logan court after a grand jury indictment. The youth pleaded not guilty and was placed under bond of $2,000.

The Jackson and Elick girls were killed when Edwards drove his automobile at them during a reunion south of Laurelville. He did it as a "prank", he said, but both girls died of their injuries. A third, Florence Miller of Rockbridge, was injured seriously, but has improved sufficiently to leave Cherrington hospital, Logan. She suffered a fractured leg.

Young Edwards is free under $2,000 bond.

TWO GIRLS SENT TO COUNTY JAIL IN STORE THEFT

Clara O'Neill, 23, and Othella Smales, 22, both of Jackson, held by police on two charges of shoplifting, were fined $25 and costs on each charge Thursday night by Mayor W. J. Graham and committed to the county jail. Both pleaded guilty.

They were charged with taking merchandise from the Penney store and Crist's department store. The case of a third girl held by police has not been heard.

VATICAN FEARS CENTRAL ASIA'S FALL TO REDS

Missionary Fathers Report
Sweeping Advance of
Communist Army

VATICAN CITY — (UP) — News has reached the Vatican that the unexpected advance of Chinese Communists of Szechwan into the southern region of Kansu has created new difficulties for the Catholic missionaries of that region.

It was learned that the Missionary Fathers of the Divine Word were forced to follow the regular troops in their retreat to Lanchow capital of the province.

Father Bromkamp, missionary at Minchow, fled across the Taohu River in an attempt to reach Lanchow and was forced to hide in the northern mountains, closely followed by a group of Communists. It is hoped he found refuge with some Christian natives who are hiding in the caves in the mountains.

Priest Suffers Hardships
Father Vogt, who was forced to flee from Taohow in view of the advance of the Chinese reds, finally reached Lanchow after two months of hardships.

The Missionary Fathers also have reported to the Holy See that the 14th division of the Chinese regular troops encountered a large number of the invading red troops near Minchow and attempted to check their advance. Two regiments of the 37th army corps were surrounded by bandits and slaughtered without mercy. These two regiments previously had defeated the same Communists at Kwangsi.

Father Paul Muller and Brothers Rosenbach and Hull escaped from the advancing hordes at Lungsi, the Vatican has been informed.

Grave concern is caused by the lack of news from Father Frick, stationed in the Changshien region. It was learned that the bandits took the region by surprise and it is feared that no one succeeded in escaping the Communists.

Fears Are Voiced
An unimpeachable Vatican source, thoroughly conversant with the conditions of the province of Kansu, has summed up the general situation there as follows: "If Lanchow should fall into the hands of the Communists the culture of the country, which has been developing rapidly, will suffer a setback of many years. All the city's old houses were being replaced by modern buildings and wide streets. An aviation field with the most modern equipment and a large School of Economy have been constructed during the last year. Lanchow can well be called the key to Central Asia. If the Communists obtain possession of it they will automatically gain control of Kansu and all of Central Asia."

Dinner Stories

HER TEST

It was a dark and stormy night when the weary husband returned home.

"I've been to every shop in town, and they can't match that bit of ribbon for you anywhere, dear," he said to his wife.

"Splendid!" she cried, "I just wanted to make sure that it really was unique."

HE MADE A TEN-YEAR TEST WITH ALL-BRAN

Say good-bye to the headaches, the low spirits, the sleeplessness that often follow common constipation. Just read this letter:

"In 1926, I started using ALL-BRAN. And now, after ten years, during which I have put Kellogg's ALL-BRAN to a long, hard test, I am writing you this letter. It is better to eat this food and be in condition, than to resort to laxatives." — Bernard Altman, 63 Goodale Road, Mattapan, Mass.

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN will help you too. Its "bulk" absorbs moisture within the body, forms a soft mass, gently cleanses the system. Tests prove it is safe and effective.

ALL-BRAN is guaranteed. Try it a week. If not satisfactory, your money will be refunded by the Kellogg Company.

Just eat two tablespoonfuls daily. Either as a cereal, or in recipes.

How much better to use this food than to take patent medicines. Buy ALL-BRAN at your grocer's. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

FAMED BARITONE TO SING SUNDAY WITH CONCERTS

John Charles Thomas on Rapee Program; Lily
Pons Scheduled

John Charles Thomas, whose singing diction is an example of almost flawless technique who is recognized as the finest word stylist among the great singers in the world today, is to be the soloist of the Concerts program on Sunday, November 15.

HARBOR PLANS FOR WAKE AND MIDWAY READY

HONOLULU (UP)—Simultaneously with the aviation development in the Pacific, the War Department is planning harbor facilities at Wake and Midway islands. Lieut.-Col. R. C. Crawford has revealed.

Crawford is the district engineer for the Territory of Hawaii, in which district Wake and Midway are included, although they do not form part of the Territory. The entire harbor facilities entail expenditure of about $1,500,000.

The proposed project at Midway, includes a turning channel 300 feet in width, 22 feet deep at the outer end and 20 feet deep at the inner end, with a turning basin 1,200 feet square. It will cost $500,000.

The additional $1,000,000, it is proposed, will be spent at Wake Island for a channel 1,200 feet wide and 18 feet deep and a turning basin 1,000 feet square.

The survey for the proposed harbor facilities was made last spring and the findings reported to Washington with the approval and recommendation of the local engineer.

Funds for the work probably will be provided by congress or by a special allotment of public works funds.

VATICAN FEARS CENTRAL ASIA'S FALL TO REDS

Missionary Fathers Report
Sweeping Advance of
Communist Army

VATICAN CITY — (UP) — News has reached the Vatican that the unexpected advance of Chinese Communists of Szechwan and Szechuan into the southern region of Kansu has created new difficulties for the Catholic missionaries of that region.

It was learned that the Missionary Fathers of the Divine Word were forced to follow the regular troops in their retreat to Lanchow capital of the province.

Father Bromkamp, missionary at Minchow, fled across the Taohu River in an attempt to reach Lanchow and was forced to hide in the northern mountains, closely followed by a group of Communists. It is hoped he found refuge with some Christian natives who are hiding in the caves in the mountain.

Priest Suffers Hardships
Father Vogt, who was forced to flee from Taohu in view of the advance of the Chinese reds, finally reached Lanchow after two months of hardships.

The Missionary Fathers also have reported to the Holy See that the 14th division of the Chinese regular troops encountered a large number of the invading red troops near Minchow and attempted to check their advance. Two regiments of the 37th army corps were surrounded by Communists and slaughtered without mercy. These two regiments previously had defeated the same Communists at Kwangsi.

Father Paul Muller and Brothers Rosenbach and Hull escaped from the advancing hordes at Lungsi, the Vatican has been informed.

Grave concern is caused by the lack of news from Father Frick, stationed in the Changhien region. It was learned that the bandits took the region by surprise and it is feared that no one succeeded in escaping the Communists.

Fears Are Voiced
An unimpeachable Vatican source, thoroughly conversant with the conditions of the province of Kansu, has summed up the general situation there as follows:

"If Lanchow should fall into the hands of the Communists the culture of the country, which has been developing rapidly, will suffer a setback of many years. All the city's old houses were being replaced by modern buildings and wide streets. An aviation field with the most modern equipment and a large School of Economy have been constructed during the last year. Lanchow can well be called the key to Central Asia. If the Communists obtain possession of it they will automatically gain control of Kansu and all of Central Asia."

HER TEST

It was a dark and stormy night when the weary husband returned home.
"I've been to every shop in town, and they can't match that bit of ribbon for you anywhere, dear," he said to his wife.
"Splendid!" she cried, "I just wanted to make sure that it really was unique."

HE MADE A TEN-YEAR TEST WITH ALL-BRAN

Say good-bye to the headaches, the low spirits, the sleeplessness that often follow common constipation. Just read this letter:

"In 1926, I started using ALL-BRAN. And now, after ten years, during which I have put Kellogg's ALL-BRAN to a long, hard test, I am writing you this letter. It is better to eat this food and be in condition, than to resort to laxatives."

—Bernard Altman, 63 Goodale Road, Mattapan, Mass.

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN will help you too. Its "bulk" absorbs moisture within the body, forms a soft mass, gently cleanses the system. Tests prove it is safe and effective.

ALL-BRAN is guaranteed. Try it a week. If not satisfactory, your money will be refunded by the Kellogg Company.

Just eat two tablespoonfuls daily. Either as a cereal, or in recipes. How much better to use this food than to take patent medicines. Buy ALL-BRAN at your grocer's. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek,

GRANGE READY TO ASK U.S. TO JOIN IN COURT

Resolutions to be Voted on in Friday Confab Held in Columbus

MORE PROTECTION URGED

Harper Sibley Applauds New Monetary Plan

COLUMBUS, Nov. 13.—(UP)—Passage of a resolution placing the national grange's 800,000-odd members on record as favoring United States membership in the world court was confidently predicted by proponents of the move as delegates and visitors to the farm fraternity's 70th annual convention met today.

Backers of the measure pointed out that the grange has consistently maintained that permanent prosperity for the farmer can be effected only through "good will" among nations. The world court, they contend, is a large stride toward this objective.

Resolutions Planned

In addition, it was learned resolutions will be presented taking adequate protection for the American dairy market against the importation of "cheap" foreign dairy products; the promotion of a "good neighbor policy" toward other nations to curb the international armament race; aid for "worthy" share-croppers and public ownership of certain natural resources.

Resolutions will be placed before special committees, at which time representatives for various interests seeking to influence grange policy will be given a hearing.

The highspot of today's program will be a forum at which prominent grangers will speak. The program will be broadcast.

Among those scheduled to speak were National Master Louis J. Tabor, Columbus; Harry B. Crawford, state master, Houlton, Me.; Ralph W. Moore, state master, Granger, Tex.; and D. B. Anderson, state master, Moore, S. C.

At a "70th birthday celebration" yesterday, Harper A. Sibley, Rochester, N. Y., president of the United States Chamber of Commerce, told grangers that the recent monetary stabilization plan between the United States, England and France was "one of the greatest things done toward the restoration of prosperity in a long time."

Policy Praised

He praised President Roosevelt's "good neighbor policy," terming it a great step toward world peace. Speaking of agricultural planning, he said that to be successful, it must be on a long time basis and that supply and demand must be balanced to assure fair prices.

"I do not agree with those who say the farmer should produce all he can," Sibley said.

In a speech earlier in the day before 1200 farm youths, he said that "freedom of the press and assembly and the right of workers to strike must be maintained if democracy is to be preserved in this country."

He lauded "a system which permits a poor boy to rise to the head of a great corporation," but warned that business must "share fairly the fruits of industry with labor."

Scouting Marches On

The above reproduction of the 1936 Boy Scout Poster typifies the spirit and enthusiasm of the local project to reorganize Scouting in Circleville and Pickaway county, which will be formally inaugurated with a county-wide Boy Scout Rally at Memorial Hall next Monday evening at 7:30.

The rally will be preceded by a parade in which Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, the High School Band, the American Legion Drum and Bugle Corps, and a Cub Scout Drum and Bugle Corps from Bremen, Ohio. The parade will leave Circleville High School at 7 o'clock and proceed to Memorial Hall. Ralph Ward, Byron Crites and Ed. Ebert, of the American Legion, were appointed by Reed Shafer, temporary chairman, to organize the parade.

Charles E. Wood, who spoke to local Rotarians and the high school assembly a few ago, will return to Circleville at the request of the temporary committee headed by Shafer, to deliver the main address of the rally. Mr. Wood is Deputy Regional Scout Executive of Region Four, comprising the states of Ohio, West Virginia, and Kentucky, Boy Scouts of America. He has an enviable reputation as a public speaker and will adapt his talk to both Scouts and adults. In addition to the speech, special music and a new Scout investiture ceremony by Troop 158, sponsored by Howard Hall Post No. 134, American Legion, will supplement the program. The feature of the evening will be the presentation of the report of the nominating committee of which Tom Gilliland is chairman. Other members, who met today, are Frank Fischer, Frank Lynch, Dr. G. D. Phillips, and Reed Shafer. The men elected Monday night will make up the permanent organization for Scouting in this county for the ensuing year.

He praised President Roosevelt's "good neighbor policy," terming it a great step toward world peace. Speaking of agricultural planning, he said that to be successful, it must be on a long time basis and that supply and demand must be balanced to assure fair prices.

SCIENCE SAYS TO BE IN STEP IS NOT TO BE

BERKELEY, Cal. (UP)—The Physics Department of the University of California has devised a scientific explanation why it is impossible for the university band to keep in perfect step—provided any layman can understand it.

The explanation is as follows: "They cannot all be in perfect step because if they are in perfect step they must be out of step because the front and back cannot be in step without being out of step."

In briefer if not less understandable terms:

GRANGE READY TO ASK U.S. TO JOIN IN COURT

Resolutions to be Voted on in Friday Confab Held in Columbus

MORE PROTECTION URGED

Harper Sibley Applauds New Monetary Plan

COLUMBUS, Nov. 13—(UP)—Passage of a resolution placing the national grange's 800,000-odd members on record as favoring United States membership in the world court was confidently predicted by proponents of the move as delegates and visitors to the farm fraternity's 70th annual convention met today.

Backers of the measure pointed out that the grange has consistently maintained that permanent prosperity for the farmer can be effected only through "good will" among nations. The world court, they contend, is a large stride toward this objective.

Resolutions Planned

In addition, it was learned resolutions will be presented taking adequate protection for the American dairy market against the importation of "cheap" foreign dairy products; the promotion of a "good neighbor policy" toward other nations to curb the international armament race; aid for "worthy" share-croppers and public ownership of certain natural resources.

Resolutions will be placed before special committees, at which time representatives for various interests seeking to influence grange policy will be given a hearing.

The highest of today's program will be a forum at which prominent grangers will speak. The program will be broadcast.

Among those scheduled to speak were National Master Louis J. Tabor, Columbus; Harry B. Crawford, state master, Houlton, Me.; Ralph W. Moore, state master, Granger, Tex.; and D. B. Anderson, state master, Moore, S. C.

At a "70th birthday celebration" yesterday, Harper A. Sibley, Rochester, N. Y., president of the United States Chamber of Commerce, told grangers that the recent monetary stabilization plan between the United States, England and France was "one of the greatest things done toward the restoration of prosperity in a long time."

Policy Praised

He praised President Roosevelt's "good neighbor policy," terming it a great step toward world peace. Speaking of agricultural planning, he said that to be successful, it must be on a long time basis and that supply and demand must be balanced to assure fair prices.

"I do not agree with those who say the farmer should produce all he can," Sibley said.

In a speech earlier in the day before 1200 farm youths, he said that "freedom of the press and assembly and the right of workers to strike must be maintained if democracy is to be preserved in this country."

He lauded "a system which permits a poor boy to rise to the head of a great corporation," but warned that business must "share fairly the fruits of industry with labor."

Scouting Marches On

The above reproduction of the 1936 Boy Scout Poster typifies the spirit and enthusiasm of the local project to reorganize Scouting in Circleville and Pickaway county, which will be formally inaugurated with a county-wide Boy Scout Rally at Memorial Hall next Monday evening at 7:30.

The rally will be preceded by a parade in which Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, the High School Band, the American Legion Drum and Bugle Corps, and a Cub Scout Drum and Bugle Corps from Bremen, Ohio. The parade will leave Circleville High School at 7 o'clock and proceed to Memorial Hall. Ralph Ward, Byron Crites and Ed. Ebert, of the American Legion, were appointed by Reed Shafer, temporary chairman, to organize the parade.

Charles E. Wood, who spoke to local Rotarians and the high school assembly a few ago, will return to Circleville at the request of the temporary committee headed by Shafer, to deliver the main address of the rally. Mr. Wood is Deputy Regional Scout Executive of Region Four, comprising the states of Ohio, West Virginia, and Kentucky, Boy Scouts of America. He has an enviable reputation as a public speaker and will adapt his talk to both Scouts and adults. In addition to the speech, special music and a new Scout investiture ceremony by Troop 158, sponsored by Howard Hall Post No. 134, American Legion, will supplement the program. The feature of the evening will be the presentation of the report of the nominating committee of which Tom Gilliland is chairman. Other members, who met today, are Frank Fischer, Frank Lynch, Dr. G. D. Phillips, and Reed Shafer. The men elected Monday night will make up the permanent organization for Scouting in this county for the ensuing year.

bus was the week-end guest of his grand-parents Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Patrick.

Kingston—The Woman's Foreign Missionary Society of the M. E. church met on Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Dennis H. Dreisbach with Mrs. A. U. Brundige assistant hostess. The meeting was opened with the prayer circle and the president Mrs. Paul M. Niswander was in charge of the devotional. The secretary Mrs. A. U. Brundige read the minutes. It was announced during the business session that the mid-year meeting will be held in Chillicothe in April 1937. Miss Umsted discussed the 1st chapter of the study book about the Belgian Congo by Mrs. Julia Lake Kellersberger, the name "The Cross in the Sky". The book is most interesting and was ably given by Miss Umsted. The Mystery Box questions were in charge of Mrs. Mollie Pugh. Miss Umsted reported the Executive meeting recently held at the home of Mrs. John Dunlap the district president. The meeting closed with the usual benediction. The hostess served cake, cookies and tea. The visitors were Mrs. Herman Williams, Miss Carrie Hard and Miss Katherine L. Brundige.

Kingston—The Bethel Aid Society met on Wednesday November 4th, at the home of Mrs. Harley Dearth with Mrs. Merle Dearth and Mrs. Maude Dearth assistant hostesses. At 2:30 o'clock the president Mrs. Harold Streitenberger called the meeting to order. After the regular business session the following program was presented: Instrumental solo, Mrs. Leslie Denman; Mrs. Mandone Lutz, a visitor, read two beautiful poems and gave a most interesting and helpful talk on "Cooperation"; Vocal solo, Mrs. Ardith Purdum; reading by Mrs. George Evans; instrumental duet, Misses Irene Bower and Esther Hertenstein; reading by Mrs. Neil Albin. The hostess served sandwiches, fruit jello, cake, coffee and candy to fifty members and guests. The next meeting will be held on Wednesday afternoon November 18th at the home of Mrs. Clarence Dearth.

Kingston—Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Delong will occupy an apartment in Miss Adah Machirs house on West Pickaway street they moved last week.

Kingston—Remember the Salem Women's Christian Temperance Union meeting to be held on Friday afternoon November 13th, at the home of Miss Mary L. Harpster. This is a deferred meeting from the regular date. A good attendance is requested.

Kingston—Mr. and Mrs. Herman Williams and small daughter Nancy Alice were the guests of his parents Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Williams on Friday night and Saturday.

Kingston—Mrs. William Prindle was called to New Lexington on Thursday on account of the sudden death of her brother Ed Thomas, who died at his work on the farm while feeding the stock on Wednesday evening.

Kingston—Charles Foster and Mrs. Mary Louise Walker of Columbus were the week-end guests of his parents Mr. and Mrs. Charles Foster.

OPEN LETTERS

TO MERCHANTS

GENTLEMEN: Next Monday noon the Chamber of Commerce will begin a series of weekly luncheon meetings, planned to create interest in the organization and bring to business men brief addresses on the newest methods of merchandising and latest tips on salesmanship. These meetings will be limited to one hour. Matters of importance to every business man will be discussed. Plans will be formulated for Christmas decorations, merchandising programs and civic improvements will be considered. In recent months many local merchants have taken very little interest in the organization. Many have failed to attend meetings. The Chamber of Commerce has done much to boost Circleville as a trading center, and every wide-awake merchant should take one hour off each week to attend these meetings. There is no limit to the things merchants can accomplish if they build up a strong organization to boost Circleville business.

CIRCUITEER

TO LEGIONNAIRES

VETERANS: All of you are to be congratulated for the fine Armistice Day parade, that will be remembered as very successful. It is proper that this day be observed with as much reverence as any of our national holidays. At the same time that the Legion is being complimented for its successful function, flowers should be presented William Betts Jr. for his election as vice commander for the district. It is an honor deserved by the local post and Mr. Betts, who has done much to make Howard Hall post one of the best in the Ohio district.

CIRCUITEER

TO MEN ONLY

FELLOWS: Have you lost your patriotism? You know better and there was no excuse for your failure to take off your hats when the Stars and Stripes passed you during the Armistice day parade. I want to see every head bare when the flag passes in the next parade.

CIRCUITEER

TO RESIDENTS

DEAR NEIGHBORS: Unprecedented weather in recent years has taken a heavy toll of Circleville's beautiful shade trees. High winds have torn out branches and last week's snowstorm played havoc with many trees. This city has always been known for its beautiful trees and it is a shame some organized effort has not been made to replace dead or dying trees. I understand the Chamber of Commerce has this item on its list of civic improvements. I hope the organization presents its plans soon, and residents back it 100 per cent.

CIRCUITEER

TO SCOUT EXECUTIVES

GENTLEMEN: I hope you much success in the campaign you are conducting to reorganize Pickaway county's Boy Scout troops in order to have them participate in the Central Ohio Area Council. The meeting next Monday evening should be attended by all parents interested in the welfare of the youth of the city and county. The local troops were operating under the Area Council program until about two years ago when a financial campaign failed. This was due in part to belief of many that the troops were not receiving the proper amount of supervision from the Columbus office that was expected. I hope that a suitable program can be worked out to give Pickaway county troops all the advantages provided troops in other central Ohio cities, and from all indications that will be done.

TO DEMOCRATS

POLITICIANS: Right now would provide splendid opportunity for you to stage a "victory" dinner. Never in history has the Democratic party been so successful as at the election last week, and it is only proper that your organization celebrate in a fitting manner. It was suggested that you parade the night of the election, but the outcome then was too indefinite. Why would not a "victory" dinner be an appropriate way in which to acknowledge the work of the chairmen of the various clubs and organizations, and some of the precinct workers who performed their duties in a noble manner.

CIRCUITEER

TO CONSERVATION OFFICERS

GENTLEMEN: Sportsmen are with you in your drive to rid this county of game law violators. This year Pickaway county has a wonderful crop of game, largely because sportsmen have spent their time and money to make better hunting for everyone. Since game is plentiful some refuse to wait until the season arrives to take their share in a lawful manner. I hope your drive not only stops violations this year, but gives lawbreakers something to remember in future years.

CIRCUITEER

TO CITIZENS

FOLK: The American Red Cross has launched its campaign for memberships, and it is your duty as American citizens to support it. The work of the Red Cross can be seen at home, in the state, in the nation, and throughout the world. It is your contribution that makes this work possible. Within the next few days you will probably be visited by a solicitor. Greet this person in a friendly manner, and with courtesy. A membership in the Red Cross costs just $1. I urge all of you to join.

CIRCUITEER

World At A Glance

—By—
Charles P. Stewart

This last presidential campaign appears to me to have become an unusually tiresome affair of its kind, as it has waged along.

"Thank heaven it's nearly over," is a remark I heard again and again as the contest neared its close. It has been a mighty important fight, but somehow it has dragged.

It began with two pretty tame conventions, for one thing.

The Republicans were discouraged, then generated a bit of enthusiasm, as their proceedings progressed, but it was more or less synthetic. The Democratic gathering's work was cut-and-dried.

ORATORY

Later on campaign oratory was not so good.

President Roosevelt, as his party's chief spokesman, necessarily was in a defensive position, and there is not so much inspiration in a defense as in an attack.

Governor Landon had the advantage of being on the attacking side, but he proved not to have the qualities to make him a rip-roaring attacker.

Col. Frank Knox was the most spectacular spell-binder on the 1938 stump, but he did not express himself in overly convincing fashion. Besides, a vice presidential candidate cannot be better than a second fiddler, no matter how loudly he fiddles.

President Garner scarcely did at all, and what little did he did do he did as if he were fiddling with his fingers crossed.

JEFFERSONIANS

The so-called Jeffersonians Democrats (the seceders from Rooseveltianism) indulged in a fair-to-middling line of vituperation, but it failed to clock effectively.

Al Smith seems to have lost his old-time appeal. Ex-Senator James A. Reed said nothing to take any particular skin off. Ex-Governor Joseph B. Ely proved a flop—or maybe he did not exert himself. Ex-Secretary of State Bainbridge Colby did the best platform speaking of any of the disgruntled Democratic group, but Colby is scholarly rather than popular.

It is a handicap to be disgruntled, anyway.

INARTICULATE

The Progressives, Farmer-Laborites and affiliates were surprisingly inarticulate on a national scale.

John L. Lewis' C. I. O. and the A. F. of L. were active, doubtless, but not vocal.

The pewee presidential candidates (Unionist, Socialist, Socialist-Labor and Communist) have left plenty of fireworks, but of course they are too unimportant for their pyrotechnics to signify.

(Prohibition had a candidate, too, but that is so dead that I forgot to include it in my list of independent groups.)

Unionist, Lemke; Socialist, Thomas; Socialist-Labor, Aiken; Communist, Browder; Prohibition, Colvin. Lemke and Thomas have been heard above a whisper.

Browder has been heard a little, but not on account of anything he said; merely because some silly elements have attempted to gag him altogether by violence, locally official or informal. Aiken and Colvin? Who knew that they were running at all?

THIRD PARTY BLOW-UP

A real third party throws some pep into a campaign.

For example, in 1924, when the late Senator Robert M. La Follette was an independent presidential aspirant, there was some prospect, at first, that his candidacy would split the national vote to the extent of leaving the final choice to the house of representatives. And it might have occurred if the Republican-Democrat division had been closer.

But Lemke? What chance did he stand in a triangular fight? None!

ANTI-CLIMAXES?

In short, this campaign has been a series of anti-climaxes, dwindling from what was not much of a climax on the big convention dates.

And anti-climaxes are tiresome. They may have been leading up to a sure-enough climax in 1940, however.

FLOWERS AT HER FEET

By MARIE BLIZARD

COPYRIGHT: RELEASED BY CENTRAL PRESS ASSOCIATION

CHAPTER 45

KATHLEEN stood for a long time in Mrs. Anderson's kitchen staring at Alix's mail, at the English postmarks a year-and-a-half old, at the character in the handwriting, at the precise sameness of every letter of the chirography. Everything indicated a man who wouldn't make his decisions lightly, a man who knew his mind.

The two letters sent from England had been posted in April. The two in the same handwriting sent in New York were posted in May. An April and May almost two years gone!

Kathleen hesitated a moment. Then:

"Do you remember me?" she asked Mrs. Anderson.

"That I do. Shure, you're a friend of Miss Carey's, ain't you?"

"A very good friend, I hope," Kathleen said. "Mrs. Anderson, Miss Carey has just returned to New York. She isn't very well. I wonder if you'd trust me to take these letters to her?"

"Certainly. And will you be rememberin' me to her? And tell her I'm still wearin' the lovely things she gave me before she went away."

Kathleen stuffed the letters along with the ones she had mailed to Alix into her bag and hailed a taxi.

"Take me to Rebyburn and Godde's," she said to the driver.

It would probably take her the rest of the afternoon she reflected and this was the day before Christmas. She had packages to tie up, four guests coming to dinner, a number of last minute things Kim would want done.

Well, those things could wait! She had a duty, a debt to pay.

She owed everything she owed to a girl she loved. Kathleen blinched away a tear that blinded her.

Kathleen drew herself up to her last inch, called upon every atom of command she had in her as she approached the secretary at the door of the office of Mr. Milton Rebyburn, president of Rebyburn and Godde.

She scribbled across her card which read:

MRS. KIMBALL FOSTER PRESTON

The scribbled message said, "Will Mr. Rebyburn receive Mrs. Preston as a personal favor?"

She waited five minutes. Five minutes while Mr. Rebyburn remembered who Mrs. Kimball Foster Preston was.

He came to the door in person. "With great pleasure," he said.

Twenty minutes later Kathleen, with the information that Alix Carey's address was the Y. W. C. A. on Lexington avenue, gave her hand graciously to Mr. Rebyburn and said, "Thank you so much, Mr. Rebyburn. I hope you'll forgive me for coming to you on such an important day. The day before Christmas must be frantic in such a successful store as this. I wish you a Merry Christmas."

Twenty blocks away Alix Carey was saying, "I hope you'll forgive me, Mr. Towner, for coming to you the day before Christmas but you see I was so afraid someone else might get the job, I couldn't wait."

"I'm glad you came," he said. "And I think Howard is a lucky fellow to get someone with your experience. Of course, the salary isn't very big but that's all he can pay now. Perhaps if you can put into effect some of the things you've tried in Bairdsdale, together you can make a great success of it. Good luck."

"Good luck to you too, Mr. Towner. Thank you for making this a very happy Christmas for me."

Then, as darkness fell, she returned to the Y.

"Of, Miss Carey!" the desk clerk called Alix as she crossed the lobby on her way to her room.

"There's some mail for you," Alix appeared surprised.

"It's a package. Do you want the elevator boy to take it up?"

There was a big package with a

Bairdsdale postmark. She looked at it the way a child looks through the window of a toy shop.

"Yes," she said unbelievably, "it is true . . . oh . . . Merry Christmas to you!"

"Merry Christmas to you."

"It is, a very happy one," she said convincingly to the clerk who wondered what was the matter with Miss Carey and almost forgot to tell her there was a lady waiting for her in the lounge.

"Send up the package," Alix said and went into the lounge.

"Alix Carey, you're a very bad child!" Kathleen greeted her.

"I know I am," Alix said with-out preliminary. "Now I can tell you why. I couldn't call you when I was working, Kathleen, and then I lost my job and I didn't want you to know but now I have the most wonderful chance! I'm going into a small decorating shop and I'm going to get $30 a week. And I have a box upstairs from Bairdsdale. Oh, don't mind me if I seem to spill over. It's because I'm happy! And happy because you are here, too."

"Suppose we go up and see what's in the box?" Kathleen said matter-of-factly. This was no place to give Alix the letters, not in the condition she was in.

"Let's open the package first and talk later about this fine new job," Kathleen composed herself to take her time. Kim would be frantic about her tardy return.

"Kathleen, do you mind if I keep it until tomorrow?"

"Of course not. That reminds me, Kim and I want you to come to us tomorrow at two. And we'll take no refusals!"

"All right." The color came back to Alix. The light returned to her eyes. She looked so happy it made the muscles in Kathleen's throat tighten.

"Oh, yes," Kathleen opened her bag as though she had just remembered the letters, "you know I was afraid the reason I didn't hear from you was because you were hurt by my silence."

"But I wasn't," Alix denied. "You said you wrote to me so I know that you did."

"Well, sometimes I'm a funny girl and I got to thinking maybe you didn't and so I happened to be in the neighborhood of your old apartment today and I dropped by. I also remembered how the mail was left loosely on that downstairs table. There was a chance that the letters had been saved by the ever-hopeful Mrs. Anderson."

"And?"

"And they were!" Kathleen said triumphantly.

She took the packet from her spacious bag and laid them on Alix's bed.

"Are all those mine?"

"All of them," Kathleen dropped the envelopes as face downward. She wanted to give Alix privacy when she saw them.

"Some of them are nearly two years old which goes to prove that a gift in time to the janitor's wife saves letters for years."

"Alix didn't touch them."

"Good heavens! It's nearly six. If I don't rush, my dear impatient husband will probably beat the daylight out of me."

"Kim?" Alix laughed merrily. The sound of her laughter was unexpected.

"I'll be so glad to see him again. That is . . . if he's . . ."

"Of course he is . . . You mean if he finally opened his eyes to the act you put on for our benefit, you noble girl! He's just as anxious to have you as I am. So put on your prettiest frock and don't be a minute late. . . . I have an idea this is going to be a very happy Christmas for you, Alix. Her eyes strayed to the letters on the bed.

"It is already," Alix said.

"Kathleen, I had thought that I was going to be alone tomorrow, jobless, forgotten. Instead I have my old friends back, my dear friends in Bairdsdale have not forgotten me, and I have a wonderful job to look forward to. I'm really happy."

"Then I'll leave you. You look as though you needed a good dinner and an early-to-bed night and mind you, be prompt!"

Alix saw her to the door. Then she went back and gathered up the letters without looking at them and put them in her bureau drawer to save for the next day.

It was Christmas Eve and she had a box of presents to open.

Sitting cross-legged on her bed, she opened the big box and took each gift out separately to savor every moment.

OPEN LETTERS

TO MERCHANTS

GENTLEMEN: Next Monday noon the Chamber of Commerce will begin a series of weekly luncheon meetings, planned to create interest in the organization and bring to business men brief addresses on the newest methods of merchandising and latest tips on salesmanship. These meetings will be limited to one hour. Matters of importance to every business man will be discussed. Plans will be formulated for Christmas decorations, merchandising programs and civic improvements will be considered. In recent months many local merchants have taken very little interest in the organization. Many have failed to attend meetings. The Chamber of Commerce has done much to boost Circleville as a trading center, and every wide-awake merchant should take one hour off each week to attend these meetings. There is no limit to the things merchants can accomplish if they build up a strong organization to boost Circleville business.

CIRCUITEER

TO LEGIONNAIRES

VETERANS: All of you are to be congratulated for the fine Armistice Day parade, that will be remembered as very successful. It is proper that this day be observed with as much reverence as any of our national holidays. At the same time that the Legion is being complimented for its successful function, flowers should be presented William Betts Jr. for his election as vice commander for the district. It is an honor deserved by the local post and Mr. Betts, who has done much to make Howard Hall post one of the best in the Ohio district.

CIRCUITEER

TO MEN ONLY

FELLOWS: Have you lost your patriotism? You know better and there was no excuse for your failure to take off your hats when the Stars and Stripes passed you during the Armistice day parade. I want to see every head bare when the flag passes in the next parade.

CIRCUITEER

TO RESIDENTS

DEAR NEIGHBORS: Unprecedented weather in recent years has taken a heavy toll of Circleville's beautiful shade trees. High winds have torn out branches and last week's snowstorm played havoc with many trees. This city has always been known for its beautiful trees and it is a shame some organized effort has not been made to replace dead or dying trees. I understand the Chamber of Commerce has this item on its list of civic improvements. I hope the organization presents its plans soon, and residents back it 100 per cent.

CIRCUITEER

TO SCOUT EXECUTIVES

GENTLEMEN: I hope you much success in the campaign you are conducting to reorganize Pickaway county's Boy Scout troops in order to have them participate in the Central Ohio Area Council. The meeting next Monday evening should be attended by all parents interested in the welfare of the youth of the city and county. The local troops were operating under the Area Council program until about two years ago when a financial campaign failed. This was due in part to belief of many that the troops were not receiving the proper amount of supervision from the Columbus office that was expected. I hope that a suitable program can be worked out to give Pickaway county troops all the advantages provided troops in other central Ohio cities, and from all indications that will be done.

TO DEMOCRATS

POLITICIANS: Right now would provide splendid opportunity for you to stage a "victory" dinner. Never in history has the Democratic party been so successful as at the election last week, and it is only proper that your organization celebrate in a fitting manner. It was suggested that you parade the night of the election, but the outcome then was too indefinite. Why would not a "victory" dinner be an appropriate way in which to acknowledge the work of the chairmen of the various clubs and organizations, and some of the precinct workers who performed their duties in a noble manner.

CIRCUITEER

TO CONSERVATION OFFICERS

GENTLEMEN: Sportsmen are with you in your drive to rid this county of game law violators. This year Pickaway county has a wonderful crop of game, largely because sportsmen have spent their time and money to make better hunting for everyone. Since game is plentiful some refuse to wait until the season arrives to take their share in a lawful manner. I hope your drive not only stops violations this year, but gives lawbreakers something to remember in future years.

CIRCUITEER

TO CITIZENS

FOLK: The American Red Cross has launched its campaign for memberships, and it is your duty as American citizens to support it. The work of the Red Cross can be seen at home, in the state, in the nation, and throughout the world. It is your contribution that makes this work possible. Within the next few days you will probably be visited by a solicitor. Greet this person in a friendly manner, and with courtesy. A membership in the Red Cross costs just $1. I urge all of you to join.

CIRCUITEER

World At A Glance

—By—
Charles P. Stewart

This last presidential campaign appears to me to have become an unusually tiresome affair of its kind, as it has waged along. "Thank heaven it's nearly over," is a remark I heard again and again as the contest neared its close. It has been a mighty important fight, but somehow it has dragged.

It began with two pretty tame conventions, for one thing. The Republicans were discouraged. Then generated a bit of enthusiasm, as their proceedings progressed, but it was more or less synthetic. The Democratic gathering's work was cut-and-dried.

ORATORY

Later on campaign oratory was not so good. President Roosevelt, as his party's chief spokesman, necessarily was in a defensive position, and there is not so much inspiration in a defense as in an attack. Governor Landon had the advantage of being on the attacking side, but he proved not to have the qualities to make him a rip-snorting attacker.

Col. Frank Knox was the most spectacular spell-binder on the 1936 stump, but he did not express himself in overly convincing fashion. Besides, a vice presidential candidate cannot be better than a second fiddler, no matter how furiously he fiddles.

Vice President Garner scarcely fiddled at all, and what little fiddling he did do he did as if he were fiddling with his fingers crossed.

JEFFERSONIANS

The so-called Jeffersonians Democrats (the seceders from Rooseveltianism) indulged in a fair-to-middling line of vituperation, but it failed to clock effectively.

Al Smith seems to have lost his old-time appeal. Ex-Senator James A. Reed said nothing to take any particular skin off. Ex-Governor Joseph B. Ely proved a flop—or maybe he did not exert himself. Ex-Secretary of State Bainbridge Colby did the best platform speaking of any of the disgruntled Democratic group, but Colby is scholarly rather than popular.

It is a handicap to be disgruntled, anyway.

INARTICULATE

The Progressives, Farmer-Laborites and affiliates were surprisingly inarticulate on a national scale.

John L. Lewis' C. I. O. and the A. F. of L. were active, doubtless, but not vocal.

The pewee presidential candidates (Unionist, Socialist, Socialist-Labor and Communist) have let off plenty of fireworks, but of course they are too unimportant for their pyrotechnics to signify.

(Prohibition had a candidate, too, but that is so dead that I forgot to include it in my list of independent groups.)
Unionist, Lemke; Socialist, Tho-

mas; Socialist-Labor, Aiken; Communist, Browder; Prohibition, Colvin. Lemke and Thomas have been heard above a whisper. Browder has been heard a little, but not on account of anything he said; merely because some silly elements have attempted to gag him altogether by violence, locally official or informal. Aiken and Colvin? Who knew that they were running at all?

THIRD PARTY BLOW-UP

A real third party throws some pep into a campaign.

For example, in 1924, when the late Senator Robert M. La Follette was an independent presidential aspirant, there was some prospect, at first, that his candidacy would split the national vote to the extent of leaving the final choice to the house of representatives. And it might have occurred if the Republican-Democrat division had been closer.

But Lemke? What chance did he stand in a triangular fight? None!

ANTI-CLIMAXES?

In short, this campaign has been a series of anti-climaxes, dwindling from what was not much of a climax on the big convention dates.

And anti-climaxes are tiresome. They may have been leading up to a sure-enough climax in 1940, however.

FLOWERS AT HER FEET

CHAPTER 46

KATHLEEN stood for a long time in Mrs. Anderson's kitchen staring at Alix's mail, at the English postmarks a year-and-a-half old, at the character in the handwriting, at the precise sameness in every letter of the chirography. Everything indicated a man who wouldn't make his decisions lightly, a man who knew his mind.

The two letters sent from England had been posted in April. The two in the same handwriting sent in New York were posted in May. An April and May almost two years gone!

Kathleen hesitated a moment. Then:

"Do you remember me?" she asked Mrs. Anderson.

"That I do. Shure, you're a friend of Miss Carey's, ain't you?"

"A very good friend, I hope," Kathleen said. "Mrs. Anderson, Miss Carey has just returned to New York. She isn't very well. I wonder if you'd trust me to take these letters to her?"

"Certainly. And will you be rememberin' me to her? And tell her I'm still wearin' the lovely things she give me before she went away."

Kathleen stuffed the letters along with the ones she had mailed to Alix into her bag and hailed a taxi.

"Take me to Reyburn and Goode's," she said to the driver.

It would probably take her the rest of the afternoon she reflected and this was the day before Christmas. She had packages to take up, four guests coming to dinner, a number of last minute things Kim would want done.

Well, those things could wait! She had a duty, a debt to pay.

She owed everything she had to a girl she loved. Kathleen blinked away a tear that blinded her.

Kathleen drew herself up to her last inch, called upon every atom of command she had in her as she approached the secretary at the door of the office of Mr. Milton Reyburn, president of Reyburn and Goode.

She scribbled across her card which read:

MRS. KIMBALL FOSTER PRESTON

The scribbled message said, "Will Mr. Reyburn receive Mrs. Preston as a personal favor?"

She waited five minutes. Five minutes while Mr. Reyburn remembered who Mrs. Kimball Foster Preston was.

He came to the door in person. "With great pleasure," he said.

Twenty minutes later Kathleen, with the information that Alix Carey's address was the Y. W. C. A. on Lexington avenue, gave her hand graciously to Mr. Reyburn and said, "Thank you so much, Mr. Reyburn. I hope you'll forgive me for coming to you on such an important day. The day before Christmas must be frantic in such a successful store as this. I wish you a Merry Christmas."

Twenty blocks away Alix Carey was saying, "I hope you'll forgive me, Mr. Towne, for coming to you the day before Christmas but you see I was so afraid someone else might get the job, I couldn't wait."

"I'm glad you came," he said. "And I think Howard is a lucky fellow to get someone with your experience. Of course, the salary isn't very big but that's all he can pay now. Perhaps if you can put into effect some of the things you've tried in Bairdsdale, together you can make a great success of it. Good luck."

"Good luck to you too, Mr. Towne. Thank you for making this a very happy Christmas for me."

Then, as darkness fell, she returned to the Y.

"Oh, Miss Carey!" the desk clerk called Alix as she crossed the lobby on her way to her room. "There's some mail for you."

Alix appeared surprised.

"It's a package. Do you want the elevator boy to take it up?"

There was a big package with a collision between any two heavenly bodies would produce a vast amount of heat, some of which would reach the earth if the collision took place within the solar system.

Bairdsdale postmark. She looked at it the way a child looks through the window of a toy shop. "Yes," she said unbelievably, "it is true . . . oh . . . Merry Christmas to you!"

"Merry Christmas to you," she said convincingly to the clerk who wondered what was the matter with Miss Carey and almost forgot to tell her there was a lady waiting for her in the lounge.

"Send up the package," Alix said and went into the lounge.

"Alix Carey, you're a very bad child!" Kathleen greeted her.

"I know I am," Alix said without preliminary. "Now I can tell you why. I couldn't call you when I was working, Kathleen, and then I lost my job and I didn't want you to know but now I have the most wonderful chance! I'm going to get $30 a week. And I have a box upstairs from Bairdsdale. Oh, don't mind me if I seem to spill over. It's because I'm happy! And happy because you are here, too."

"Suppose we go up and see what's in the box?" Kathleen said matter-of-factly. This was no place to give Alix the letters, not in the condition she was in.

"Let's open the package first and talk later about this fine new job," Kathleen composed herself to take her time. Kim would be frantic about her tardy return.

"Kathleen, do you mind if I keep it until tomorrow?"

"Of course not. That reminds me, Kim and I want you to come to us tomorrow at two. And we'll take no refusals!"

"All right." The color came back to Alix. The light returned to her eyes. She looked so happy it made the muscles in Kathleen's throat tighten.

"Oh, yes," Kathleen opened her bag as though she had just remembered the letters, "you know I was afraid the reason I didn't hear from you was because you were hurt by my silence."

"But I wasn't," Alix denied. "You said you wrote to me so I know that you did."

"Well, sometimes I'm a funny girl and I got to thinking maybe you didn't and so I happened to be in the neighborhood of your old apartment today and I dropped by. I also remembered how the mail was left loosely on that downstairs table. There was a chance that the letters had been saved by the ever-hopeful Mrs. Anderson."

"And?"

"And they were!" Kathleen said triumphantly.

She took the packet from her spacious bag and laid them on Alix's bed.

"Are all those mine?"

"All of them," Kathleen dropped the lot so that the writing on the envelopes was face downward. She wanted to give Alix privacy when she saw them.

"Some of them are nearly two years old which goes to prove that a gift in time to the janitor's wife saves letters for years."

Alix didn't touch them.

"Good heavens! It's nearly six. If I don't rush, my dear impatient husband will probably beat the daylight out of me."

"Kim?" Alix laughed merrily. The sound of her laughter was unexpected.

"I'll be so glad to see him again. That is . . . if he's . . ."

"Of course he is . . . You mean if he finally opened his eyes to the act you put on for our benefit, you noble girl! He's just as anxious to have you as I am. So put on your prettiest frock and don't be a minute late. I . . . I have an idea this is going to be a very happy Christmas for you, Alix. Her eyes strayed to the letters on the bed.

"It is already," Alix said.

"Kathleen, I had thought that I was going to be alone tomorrow, jobless, forgotten. Instead I have my old friends back, my dear friends in Bairdsdale have not forgotten me, and I have a wonderful job to look forward to. I'm really happy."

"Then I'll leave you. You look as though you needed a good dinner and an early-to-bed night and mind you, be prompt!"

Alix saw her to the door. Then she went back and gathered up the letters without looking at them and put them in her bureau drawer to save for the next day.

It was Christmas Eve and she had a box of presents to open.

Sitting cross-legged on her bed, she opened the big box and took each gift out separately to savor every moment.

To Observe Anniversary

Prof. Harris to Talk
Next Tuesday at
Hunsicker Home

Ten years ago in November, a group of local persons gathered at the home of Mrs. C. K. Hunsicker to organize a chapter of Daughters of the American Revolution.

Next Tuesday evening, November 17, they will meet again with Mrs. Hunsicker, W. Union street, to celebrate the tenth anniversary.

Members are invited for 6:30 o'clock for a covered dish supper. Hostesses for the evening will be Mrs. Clark Hunsicker, Mrs. G. P. Hunsicker, Mrs. Ella Hornbeck, Mrs. Bryce Briggs, Mrs. Lawrence Johnson, Mrs. Guy Dowdy of Upper Arlington, Mrs. Charles Gussman, Mrs. N. G. Hamilton, and Miss Marie Hamilton.

Prof. Ray Harris of Greenfield will speak on his travels, discussing his trip this summer in the Von Hindenburg.

Business Women's Club

Twenty members of the Business and Professional Women's club attended the turkey dinner at the Methodist church in a body, Thursday evening.

Following the dinner, they assembled in the Sunday School room to transact business. Miss Minnie Palm, president, was in charge. One former member was reinstated and three new members voted to membership in the club.

As the next regular meeting date comes on Thanksgiving, it was decided to hold an earlier meeting, the hospitality committee to be in charge. On December 10, the annual birthday party will be held, the place to be announced later.

Part of the program was a detailed report of the district meeting held in Springfield last Sunday, given by Miss Elma Rains, Miss Palm, Miss Charlotte McEwing and Miss Mary Ebert, who attended.

Bridge Club Meets

A pleasant time was spent at the home of Mrs. Wayne Hoover, Jackson township, when she entertained members of her afternoon bridge club, Wednesday. Four substituting guests were invited. They were Mrs. Scott Radcliff and Mrs. Lois Schoffer of Columbus, Mrs. Hazel Rader and Mrs. Mary Bushee.

Players progressed at three tables in auction bridge during the afternoon hours, trophies being awarded Mrs. Franklin Price and Mrs. George Shook. During the social hour refreshments were served.

The next meeting will be held on Tuesday, November 24, instead of Wednesday the regular meeting day, at the home of Mrs. James Butt, Jackson township.

Euchre Club

All members were present when Mrs. T. D. Krinn, E. Union street, entertained her euchre club at an evening of play, Thursday.

Three tables of players enjoyed the game and when tallies were added the high score prize was awarded Mrs. Charles Carle, second high to Miss Mary A. Howard. Miss Howard won the traveling prize also.

Ladies' Aid

Mrs. Scott Cardiff, Jackson township, was hostess to members of the Union Chapel Ladies' Aid society, at her home, Wednesday afternoon.

The meeting was opened with group singing of "Somebody", scripture reading by Mrs. George Bolender, and unison prayer. Roll call, collection of dues, and a short business session followed.

Contests in charge of Miss Berntha Jones, Mrs. Walter Metzger and Mrs. O. A. Lannan were won by Mrs. Herbert Gray, Mrs. Bolender and Mrs. Herbert Thomas. Two readings "In Flanders Field" and "Ye Are Not Dead" given by Miss Jones, and "A Little Child Shall Lead Them" by Mrs. Gray, concluded the program.

Refreshments were served by the hostess to the twenty members and guests present. Mrs. E. A. Ballou assisted.

The next meeting will be held the second Wednesday in December, at the home of Mrs. Roy Rittinger, Wayne Township.

Pickaway Senior 4-H

At the November meeting of the Pickaway County Senior 4-H Club, an interesting demonstration of table etiquette was presented by Miss Norma Aschbacher of Ohio State University. It was decided to hold the December meeting at the Jackson township school building on December 14, and all attending are asked to take a ten cent gift.

Robtown Ladies' Aid

Mrs. Earl Hott, Scioto township, was hostess to members of the Robtown Ladies' Aid society at her home Thursday afternoon.

After the regular business meeting the following patriotic program was presented: group singing of "The Star Spangled Banner," Reading "I Have a Rendezvous With Death," by Mrs. O. W. Smith, "Flanders Field" by Miss Bernice Rowe, "Answer to Flanders Field" by Mrs. Howard Younklin, "Do You Belong" and "Mrs. Blake's Visit to the White Mountains" by Mrs. Jennie Stewart.

The flower contest was won by Mrs. Cecil Ward. The program was concluded by repeating the Lord's Prayer.

Refreshments were served by the hostess assisted by Mrs. J. R.

and Harry Hott and Mrs. W. S. Carpenter of Columbus.

Forty-two members and visitors attended.

On November 25, the Aid society will hold its annual Thanksgiving market in Circleville. Plans were made also for an oyster supper to be held at the community house, December 1.

D. U. V. Tent Meeting Daughters of Union Veterans will hold the regular tent meeting in the post room at Memorial Hall Tuesday evening at 7:30 o'clock. This is the first nomination night and a good attendance is desired.

Wednesday, an all-day sewing is planned with a casserole dinner at the noon hour. This dinner will be sponsored by those birthdays fall in the months from April to December.

Mrs. Watts Hostess Mrs. C. C. Watts, E. Main street, entertained members of her card club and two tables of guests at her home Thursday evening.

Players progressed in contract bridge at four tables and at the close of several rounds of play high score prize for club members was won by Mrs. Hervey Sawyer. Mrs. Wallace Crist won the traveling prize. Mrs. Orion King was winner of high score favor for the guests. A dessert course was enjoyed at the close of play.

Extra guests present were Mrs. George Littleton, Mrs. George H. Adkins, Mrs. Charles Smith, Mrs. George Marion, Mrs. King, Mrs. R. R. Baies, Mrs. T. P. Brown and Mrs. George Hammel.

Dinner Precedes Installation A six o'clock dinner will precede the installation ceremonies at the American Legion auxiliary meeting Monday evening, November 18. Reservations may be made with Mrs. Orin W. Dreisbach or Mrs. James H. Stout.

Washington P-T. A. The Washington township Parent-Teachers association will meet next Monday evening at 7:30 o'clock in the school building for its regular session.

Birthday Surprise A group of friends planned a surprise party Thursday evening honoring Miss Etta Myers on her birthday anniversary.

The affair was held at the Myers home, Fairview avenue. Games and contests were enjoyed, prizes going to Willard Gaines and Berman Ward.

Those present were Wilma and Willard Gaines and John Swaney of Adelphi, Mildred, Nolene, Bernice and Berman Ward, Robert Callahan, Ethel Stonerock, Marie and Arthur Wilkin, and Miss Myers.

Refreshments were served at a late hour.

Williamsport, Mrs. George Banning and Mrs. Howard White of Columbus.

Monroe P-T. A. Two hundred persons attended the meeting of the Monroe township Parent-Teachers association, Thursday evening, to hear the Rev. G. L. Troutman give an interesting talk on "Boat Travels to the Holy Land."

The meeting was called to order by Mrs. A. H. Crowder. Plans were completed for a rabbit supper to be held Wednesday evening, November 18.

The first and third grades each presented short plays, and the music was provided by pupils of the third and fourth grades under the direction of Miss Julia Hosler.

The meeting adjourned to meet in six weeks.

U. B. Aid Earlier The United Brethren Ladies' Aid society will meet next Thursday, November 19, one week earlier than the scheduled time, on account of Thanksgiving. The meeting will be in the community house, E. Main street, at two o'clock.

Play Cancelled The play sponsored by the Ladies' Aid society of the United Brethren church, which was to have been presented next Wednesday and Thursday in Memorial Hall, has been cancelled because of inability to secure a cast.

Evening Bridge Miss Margaret Brennan was hostess to members of her club at a dessert bridge at the home of Mrs. Ray P. Reid, Wednesday evening.

Play to be Presented The Epworth League of Hedges Chapel Methodist Episcopal church will present the play "The Blue Bag", a farce comedy in three acts, at the Walnut township school auditorium, Thursday November 19.

The cast included Velma Calvert, Meta Mae Hickman, Grace Hoffman, Edith Smith, Faye Solt, Robert Baithaser, Jay Hay, Russell Hedges, Wayne Hines, Gerald Solt and Ralph Woolever.

Music will be furnished under the supervision of Mary Ruth Tolbert.

Birthday Supper Planned Order of Royal Neighbors met in regular session in the Modern Woodmen Hall at 7:30 o'clock

Thursday evening with all officers in the chairs and twenty members in attendance.

A committee was appointed to plan for a birthday supper to be held December 11. They are Mrs. Lawrence Stonerock, Mrs. H. O. Johnston, Mrs. Adolphus Pearce and Mrs. Leonard Morgan. A social hour brought the meeting to a close.

Mrs. T. D. Krinn, E. Union street, and Mrs. J. C. Rader, S. Washington street, spent Wednesday in Middletown visiting Mr. and Mrs. Charles Myers who are confined in the hospital there. Mr. and Mrs. Myers are recovering slowly from injuries suffered in an automobile accident.

Miss Dorothy Adkins spent Thursday evening with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George H. Adkins, E. Main street. She leaves Saturday for Chicago.

OLD HARNESS PRIZED BALSAM LAKE, Wis. (UP)—Nels Alm returned from a visit to Sweden with an old harness used in that country in 1669. He also brought with him another harness used there in the early part of 1700.

Mrs. Charles F. Lowe and Mrs. Anna Stout of Columbus visited with their sister, Miss Josephine Bartley, E. Main street, Wednesday.

Mrs. Ellen R. Danis and daughter, W. Ohio street, and Myrtle A. Root of Miami, Florida, were called to Toledo on business, Thursday.

Mrs. Rosa Conrad and daughter Betty, son and daughter-in-law Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Brown and family, have moved in the newly decorated rooms at Court and High streets. They had been occupying rooms at the American hotel.

Mrs. Gill Jacobs, who is making her home at the Hotel Washington, in Washington, C. H., is a guest of Mrs. James I. Smith, E. Union street.

Mrs. T. D. Krinn, E. Union street, and Mrs. J. C. Rader, S. Washington street, spent Wednesday in Middletown visiting Mr. and Mrs. Charles Myers who are confined in the hospital there. Mr. and Mrs. Myers are recovering slowly from injuries suffered in an automobile accident.

To Observe Anniversary

Prof. Harris to Talk
Next Tuesday at
Hunsicker Home

Ten years ago in November, a group of local persons gathered at the home of Mrs. C. K. Hunsicker to organize a chapter of Daughters of the American Revolution. Next Tuesday evening, November 17, they will meet again with Mrs. Hunsicker, W. Union street, to celebrate the tenth anniversary. Members are invited for 6:30 o'clock for a covered dish supper. Hostesses for the evening will be Mrs. Clark Hunsicker, Mrs. G. P. Hunsicker, Mrs. Ella Hornbeck, Mrs. Bryce Briggs, Mrs. Lawrence Johnson, Mrs. Guy Dowdy of Upper Arlington, Mrs. Charles Gussman, Mrs. N. G. Hamilton, and Miss Marie Hamilton. Prof. Ray Harris of Greenfield will speak on his travels, discussing his trip this summer in the Von Hindenburg.

Business Women's Club
Twenty members of the Business and Professional Women's club attended the turkey dinner at the Methodist church in a body, Thursday evening. Following the dinner, they assembled in the Sunday School room to transact business. Miss Minnie Palm, president, was in charge. One former member was reinstated and three new members voted to membership in the club. As the next regular meeting date comes on Thanksgiving, it was decided to hold an earlier meeting, the hospitality committee to be in charge. On December 10, the annual birthday party will be held, the place to be announced later. Part of the program was a detailed report of the district meeting held in Springfield last Sunday, given by Miss Elma Rains, Miss Palm, Miss Charlotte McEwing and Miss Mary Ebert, who attended.

Bridge Club Meets
A pleasant time was spent at the home of Mrs. Wayne Hoover, Jackson township, when she entertained members of her afternoon bridge club, Wednesday. Four substituting guests were invited. They were Mrs. Scott Radcliff and Mrs. Lois Schoffer of Columbus, Mrs. Hazel Rader and Mrs. Mary Bushee.

Players progressed at three tables in auction bridge during the afternoon hours, trophies being awarded Mrs. Franklin Price and Mrs. George Shook. During the social hour refreshments were served. The next meeting will be held on Tuesday, November 24, instead of Wednesday the regular meeting day, at the home of Mrs. James Butt, Jackson township.

Euchre Club
All members were present when Mrs. T. D. Krinn, E. Union street, entertained her euchre club at an evening of play, Thursday. Three tables of players enjoyed the game and when tables were added the high score prize was awarded Mrs. Charles Carle, second high to Miss Mary A. Howard. Miss Howard won the traveling prize also.

Ladies' Aid
Mrs. Scott Cardiff, Jackson township, was hostess to members of the Union Chapel Ladies' Aid society, at her home, Wednesday afternoon. The meeting was opened with group singing of "Somebody", scripture reading by Mrs. George Bolender, and unison prayer. Roll call, collection of dues, and a short business session followed. Contests in charge of Miss Berntha Jones, Mrs. Walter Metzger and Mrs. O. A. Lamm were won by Mrs. Herbert Gray, Mrs. Bolender and Mrs. Herbert Thomas. Two readings "In Flanders Field"

FIRST EVENT OF FALL FIELD TRIALS BEGINS FRIDAY NEAR YELLOWBUD

16 DOGS NAMED TO COMPETE IN ALL-AGE STAKE

Other Drawings Arranged For Friday Evening in Hotel Room

TROPHIES ARE PROVIDED Events To Continue For Three Full Days

First event of the annual fall field trials of the Pickaway County Bird Dog club, the open all-age stake, opened Friday morning on the courses at Yellowbud. Fog prevented an early start.

Sixteen dogs were listed in the stake Thursday night when drawings were held in the New American hotel. No local dogs are entered in this stake. Among the trainers known here, who have dogs entered are T. Jones of Sylvania, Bill Cosner of Newark, Bill Hinson of West Virginia and Bill Ware of Wellston.

Other Drawings Friday Drawings for other events of the trials to be run Saturday and Sunday will be made Friday at 8 p. m.

Judges are Ollie Neymeir of Prospect and Jessie Knapp of Portsmouth.

Trophies donated by J. W. Eshelman & Son, and the Ralston-Purina Co., will be given three places in each of the open stakes in addition to a split of the entry fees. Entry fees are: open all-age, $15; open derby, $10; amateur derby, $2, trophies only; amateur all-age, $5, choice of trophies or percentage. The stakes are run in the order named.

Committees in charge of the trials are: grounds, John Streets, Walter Richards, Byron Eby and Ralph Wallace; advertising, R. M.

Masked Marvel

THIS masked marvel is not someone in a Halloween disguise. It's Joe Whalen, Ohio Wesleyan quarterback, who must wear a mask this season to protect a broken cheekbone. The injury occurred early in the season and Joe was advised to lay off the game for a year but he insisted he be allowed to play. Coach George Gauthier compromised by making the gelder wear this specially constructed protective device.

Leach and B. S. Millar; starting dogs, George Hunter and Glen Parsons; birds, Sam Scott and Walter Richards, and arranging quarters for the dogs, William Wilder, Joe Thomas and Ralph Wallace. Club officers are: Byron Eby, president; R. M. Leach, vice president; B. S. Millar, secretary, and Ralph Wallace, treasurer. Meals are being served by the Yellowbud church.

CHILLICOTHE PANTHERS TO INVAD DENNY FIELD

The Chillicothe Panthers will play the Circleville Boosters Sunday instead of the Zanesville Giants. The contest will be Sunday at Denny's field.

EDDIE WATSON TO FACE ASHBY, TOUGH OPPONENT

Eddie Watson, the strawboard pride, is doing his best to get ready for his encounter with Spike Ashby, rough and tough Columbus grappler, Monday evening in the wrestling side of the combination card offered at the Circleville Athletic Club.

Watson is working out daily with Sherman Denny, light heavy-weight boxing champion of the county. Denny is a pretty good wrestler in addition to his ability to handle the mitts.

Ashby is recognized as a tough hombre, and Watson will need to be at his best to cope with his holds and tricks. This bout alone, is expected to draw a crowd to the C.A.C.

The swat end of the card brings Charlie Baxter and Bobby Cooper together in the main-go; Buddy Hoskins and Tommy Gill in the semi-final, and Merle Davis and Irish George Patrick in the four-round preliminary.

SCHMIDT LEAVES WITH 30 YOUTHS FOR CHAMPAIGN

COLUMBUS, Nov. 13.—(UP)—A tradition-steeped rivalry which has afforded some of the bitterest battles in western conference history will be renewed tomorrow when Ohio State and Illinois clash at Champaign.

The squad was to halt at Danville, Ill. for a practice session and remain over the night. The Bucks will not be moved to the scene of the battle until noon Saturday.

With the exception of "Jumpin' Joe" Williams, the entire Ohio squad was in good condition. Williams was still bothered by a shoulder injured in the Notre Dame contest and re-hurt against Chicago. He was included in the traveling squad but may not see action.

While beaten by Pittsburgh, Northwestern and Notre Dame, the Bucks will be favored over Illinois. The Illini have won three contests, but two of them were from minor foes. The only major victim of Bob Zuppke's eleven was Michigan.

Bowling News

Sturgell's Station knocked off the Circleville Oils in a bowling match Thursday evening in two out of three contests. The Circleville crew won the last encounter after dropping the first two.

L. Leasure, Hegele and Gordon rolled above the 500-mark.

About This And That In Many Sports

Predictions Tough

Even before the predictions start this week the janitor finds himself behind the eight-ball — How would you pick Notre Dame and Army, Ohio and Illinois, Purdue and Iowa, Wisconsin and Cincinnati, Ohio U. and Ohio Wesleyan, and West Virginia and Western Reserve, among plenty of others that make this week's selections about the toughest of the year? — If any supposed-to-be expert comes up with a three-fourths card he is some pumpkin. ***

Twenty Selections

Here goes on 20 games: Ohio over Illinois, Notre Dame over Army, Northwestern over Michigan, Indiana over Chicago, Purdue over Iowa, Minnesota over Texas, West Virginia over Western Reserve, Ohio U. over Ohio Wesleyan, Muskingum over Marietta, Toledo over Heidelberg, Denison over Oberlin, Carnegie Tech over Duquesne, Louisiana State over Auburn, in the hardest fought game in the country; Marquette over Mississippi, Navy over Harvard, Pitt over Nebraska, Kenyon over Hiram, Capital over Otterbein, Princeton over Yale. ***

Up to Luck

There they are, and may the good spirits that watch over all the unfortunate prognosticators go into action. ***

Illinois Popular

There is something about this Illinois football team that grasps the attention of Big Ten fans, regardless of how unsuccessful the Zuppke-men might be — First, there is Zup, himself, one of the canniest, cleverest and keenest football coaches across the country. Then there are his scrapping never-say-die athletes, usually outweighed but never outfought — You can't go far wrong in placing your commies at their disposal — Ohio's superior man-power should win, but it would be a good idea to keep your nuckle in your pocket. ***

Four Coaches Play

Four Ohio coaches are playing football with the Cleveland Rams in the American Pro league—They are Sid Gilman, at Denison; Frank Gaul, at John Carroll; Ray Novotny, at Kent State, and Stan Allen, at Case. ***

Akron Teams Easy

Massillon high school, one of the state's top high school grid teams, has defeated representatives of Akron schools 10 straight times since 1932.

AMERICAN LOOP TO PLAY UNDER LIGHT AT NIGHT

CHICAGO, Nov. 13.—(UP)—Night baseball assumed a definite place today on the 1937 major league schedules, with three clubs — the Reds, Cardinals and Browns — certain to play a limited number of games under the arc lights next season.

The American league, which previously opposed night baseball, finally has given its tentative consent for the Browns to play a few night games at St. Louis next season. The American league had to remove its restrictions against night baseball in order to pave the way for the sale of the St. Louis Browns to a syndicate headed by Donald L. Barnes, president of the American Investment Company of Illinois.

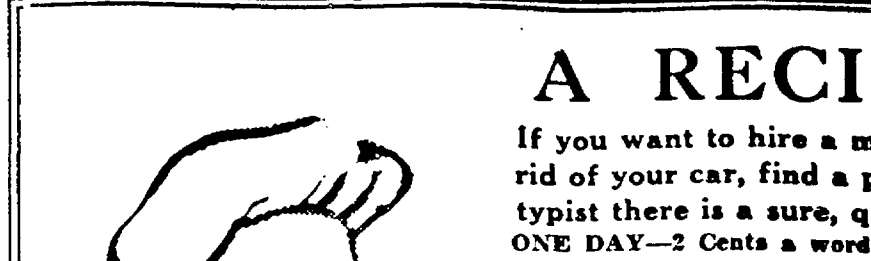

Final approval of night baseball will be made by the American league as soon as the Browns, Cardinals and owners of Sportsman's park, where both St. Louis clubs play, complete arrangement for the installation of lights and schedule a limited number of games.

25,000 TO SEE ILLINOIS MEET BUCKEYE TEAM

CHAMPAIGN, Ill., Nov. 13.—(UP)—A crowd of 25,000 is expected for the fifth meeting of Ohio State and Illinois tomorrow. Illinois ended its drill, stressing new plays and passing. Harry Lasater will be back at guard after three weeks' service as reserve center.

WILDCATS PREPARE

DEARBORN, MICH., Nov. 13.—(UP)—Northwestern went through a brief limbering-up exercise upon arrival here. Coach Lynn Waldorf went over assignments with the Wildcats, saying he expected Michigan to give them a tougher battle tomorrow than Wisconsin did last Saturday.

Two tablespoons of clarified honey and a few drops of any perfume are said to relieve chapped lips. Anoint frequently with the mixture.

Here's how easy it is:

1. Decide what you want to say in your ad. Then write, leaving out unnecessary words.

2. CALL 782 if you have a phone or drop by the service desk, Herald office. Read your ad to the ad-taker. She will help you with it, perhaps shorten it, and then will read it back to you for O. K.

3. That's all... except to sit back and wait for results which won't be long in coming because nearly everyone reads the Herald Classified Ads.

CONTRACT BRIDGE

CAN NORTH MAKE HIS BID?
MR. B. W. HOSKINS, Canton, O., asks whether North's contract of 7-Clubs can be fulfilled, against an opening lead of the 8 of spades, provided proper subsequent defense is employed. He also asks: "If North can fulfill his contract without seeing all four hands, how and when does he recognize what strategy to follow?" Those are fair questions. We will try to answer them satisfactorily.

Bidding went: South, 1-Heart; West, 2-Spades, almost certainly hoping to oblige partner to keep bidding open, to enable West to show a second suit; North, 4-Clubs; South, 4-No Trumps; West, 5-Diamonds, showing a powerful two-suiter; North, 6-Clubs, encouraged by South's show of great strength; East, 6-Diamonds; South, 7-Clubs; West, double, probably hoping to win two tricks.

The opening lead was the 8 of spades. Win with dummy's Ace. Take three rounds of winning clubs. As a matter of fact North did this, leaving the last lead in his own hand. On the opening lead West played the 9 of spades. On the three trumps led West let go the 3, 4 and 6 of spades, showing definitely that West had originally seven spades, with either five or six diamonds and no clubs. Beyond that Mr. Hoskins does not explain what happened, but the moment dummy went down, declarer knew or should have known that his only hope of fulfillment of contract was a double squeeze.

Before running off clubs, to squeeze both defenders, declarer must try for a discard of one of his two diamonds. Lead the K of hearts. Lead the 7 of hearts. East should play his 9, but declarer must risk taking the finesse. Play the J. When that holds, lead the Ace of hearts. On it let go one of declarer's diamonds.

Lead a low heart. Have declarer ruff. That will be the eighth trick. When West showed out of hearts, on the second lead of that suit, declarer should have known absolutely that the grand slam is assured. Take two rounds of trumps. On them discard both of dummy's spades. The three cards held by each player will be as shown below, provided they make their best defense.

Lead declarer's last trump. East must hold his heart and let go a diamond. Let go dummy's worthless heart. West must let go his K of spades and keep his two diamonds. West does not know that his partner does not hold the 7 of spades. The grand slam cannot be defeated.

COUNCILMEN, OTHER OFFICIALS VISIT THREE NEW DISPOSAL PLANTS

TRIP ARRANGED BY COMMITTEE TALKS OF PLANS

Industrial Waste Treatment Provided Huge Problem For City Dads

TYPE OF PLANT STUDIED

Federal Aid To Be Requested When Action Is Taken

Councilmen and city officials went to Washington C. H. London and Chillicothe Friday afternoon in an inspection tour of new sewage disposal plants.

The trip was arranged Thursday night after a two-hour closed session of councilmen as a committee to discuss plans for the new sewage disposal plant here.

All angles of the new plant were considered. Councilmen expect to visit several new plants, then ask representatives of the two companies who built them to attend a meeting here and furnish figures on the costs of the various plants to take care of Cleveland's needs. Members decided they wanted to see the various types of plants in operation before meeting with engineers so they would have a better understanding of their operation, costs and maintenance expenses.

One of the important problems to be worked out here is the treatment of industrial wastes especially during the canning season.

After the type of plant is decided they will consider the selection of a suitable site. Councilmen hope to work out plans for the plant as soon as possible as federal aid will be asked for the project.

T. M. Barnes is chairman of council's committee on the disposal plant.

JAMES ARMSEY, 75, DIES IN COUNTY INFIRMARY

James Armsey, 75, died Friday morning in the Pickaway county home of apoplexy. Mr. Armsey had been a resident of the home about six months. He previously lived near Tipton.

Surviving are his widow, Caroline, and one son, Edward of Columbus.

Funeral services will be held Saturday at 1:30 p. m. at the H. E. Defenbaugh & Son funeral home in Tipton with Rev. Samuel Elisea of the Methodist church officiating. Burial will be in Imler cemetery.

RIFLE CLUB MEETS
Thirty members of the Cleveland Rifle & Pistol club met in the Armory Thursday night for a practice shoot. No business meeting was held.

workers and involved about $80,000 annually.

The Chrysler corporation announced a $4,000,000 bonus for employees. General Motors announced a five-cents-an-hour increase for 200,000 workers, amounting to $20,000,000 a year, in addition to a bonus of $10,000,000.

Standard Oil Company of New Jersey voted a $4,500,000 bonus.

Textile workers came into the picture this week with increases for nearly 40,000 workers. The Celanese Corporation of America offered a 10 per cent increase to its 9,000 employees, adding about $900,000 to the payroll. The American Woolen Company gave increases of 10 per cent to 15,000 workers and other New England mills took similar action.

The trend spread into the educational field with Northwestern university announcing 10 per cent salary increases for all members of its personnel who were in service prior to Sept. 1, 1933, and five per cent raises for others.

Texas citizens even voted their governor a raise from $4,000 to $12,000 a year and similar increases for other state officials. More than 20,000 Los Angeles city and county employees received complete pay cut restorations, averaging about 10 per cent.

The Detroit Street Railway and the Chicago Motor Coach company extend the boosts into the utility field by giving 4,500 employees raises amounting to more than $200,000 a year.

Some of the other larger increases: Eastman Kodak company, "wage dividends" of $2,200,000; Gladding—McBean Clay Products Co., Los Angeles, increase for 700 workers of about $7,500 a week; Simmons Co., Kenosha, Wis., $300,000 bonus to 12,000.

COUNCILMEN, OTHER OFFICIALS VISIT THREE NEW DISPOSAL PLANTS

TRIP ARRANGED AS COMMITTEE TALKS OF PLANS

Industrial Waste Treatment
Provided Huge Problem
For City Dads

TYPE OF PLANT STUDIED

Federal Aid To Be Requested
When Action Is Taken

Councilmen and city officials went to Washington C. H. London and Chillicothe Friday afternoon in an inspection tour of new sewage disposal plants.

The trip was arranged Thursday night after a two-hour closed session of councilmen as a committee to discuss plans for the new sewage disposal plant here. All angles of the new plant were considered. Councilmen expect to visit several new plants, then ask representatives of the two companies who built them to attend a meeting here and furnish figures on the costs of the various plants to take care of Cincinnati's needs. Members decided they wanted to see the various types of plants in operation before meeting with engineers so they would have a better understanding of their operation, costs and maintenance expenses.

One of the important problems to be worked out here is the treatment of industrial wastes especially during the canning season. After the type of plant is decided they will consider the selection of a suitable site. Councilmen hope to work out plans for the plant as soon as possible as federal aid will be asked for the project.

T. M. Barnes is chairman of council's committee on the disposal plant.

JAMES ARMSEY, 75, DIES IN COUNTY INFIRMARY

James Armsey, 75, died Friday morning in the Pickaway county home of apoplexy. Mr. Armsey had been a resident at the home about six months. He previously lived near Tilton.

Surviving are his widow, Caroline, and one son, Edward of Columbus. Funeral services will be held Saturday at 1:30 p. m. at the H. E. Deffenbaugh & Son funeral home in Tilton with Rev. Samuel Elisea of the Methodist church officiating. Burial will be in Inler cemetery.

RIFLE CLUB MEETS
Thirty members of the Circleville Rifle & Pistol club met in the Armory Thursday night for a practice shoot. No business meeting was held.

PAY BOOSTED

workers and involved about $80,000,000 annually. The Chrysler corporation announced a $4,000,000 bonus for employees. General Motors announced a five-cents-an-hour increase for 200,000 workers, amounting to $20,000,000 a year, in addition to a bonus of $10,000,000.

Standard Oil Company of New Jersey voted a $4,500,000 bonus. Textile workers came into the picture this week with increases for nearly 40,000 workers. The Celanese Corporation of America offered a 10 per cent increase to its 9,000 employees, adding about $900,000 to the payroll. The American Woolen Company gave increases of 10 per cent to 15,000 workers and other New England mills took similar action.

The trend spread into the educational field with Northwestern university announcing 10 per cent salary increases for all members of its personnel who were in service prior to Sept. 1, 1933, and five per cent raises for others.

Texas citizens even voted their governor a raise from $4,000 to $12,000 a year and similar increases for other state officials. More than 20,000 Los Angeles city and county employees received complete pay cut restorations, averaging about 10 per cent.

The Detroit Street Railway and the Chicago Motor Coach company extend the boosts into the utility field by giving 4,500 employees raises amounting to more than $200,000 a year.

Some of the other larger increases: Eastman Kodak company, "wage dividends" of $2,200,000; Gladding - McBean Clay Products Co., Los Angeles, increase for 700 workers of about $7,500 a week; Simmons Co., Kenosha, Wis., $300,000 bonus to 12,000.

OBITUARY

There is a time when the all wise seems to say stand still and know that I am God. And may these sorrowing hearts in this hour be resigned to His will and say "Thy will be done."

The subject of this sketch, Rev. Raymond Paxton, son of Mr. Ernest Paxton and Mrs. Myrtle Spencer was born in Circleville, O., Dec. 12, 1912, departed this life Oct. 30, 1936, age 23 years, 10 months and 18 days, at the home of his wife's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Owen Morris.

He spent the major part of his life with his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. John Anderson, to whom he endeared himself as a son. In 1930 he graduated from the Pickaway high school.

It was in a revival meeting in the fall of 1930, under the pastorate of Rev. L. W. Green at the Morris U. B. church that he gave his heart to Jesus and united with the church. Soon afterwards he felt the call to the Gospel Ministry and for some time was active in that field of labor, God blessing his work.

He was united in marriage April 14, 1934 to Miss Margaret Morris and to this union one son, Douglas, was born.

During his illness all that loving hands and medical skill could do was done but to no avail. Through all of his illness he was very patient, assuring his loved ones and pastor, he was not afraid to go.

There remains to mourn their loss his wife, Margaret; son, Douglas; father, Ernest Paxton, of Columbus; mother, Mrs. Myrtle Spencer of Coaltion; one brother, Marvin Paxton of Kings Creek, O.; grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. John Anderson of Circleville, and a host of relatives and friends.

Funeral services for Raymond F. Paxton were conducted from the residence Sunday afternoon. Services were in charge of Rev. Spurgeon Metzler of Circleville, assisted by Rev. Paul Neiswander of Kingston. The songs, "Beautiful Isle of Somewhere"; "Nothing Between"; and "The Old Rugged Cross" were sung by Mrs. Roy England and Mrs. John Drake accompanied by Anna Dreisbach. Pallbearers were David, Stanley, Donald Dunkle, Edgar Haral, Ross Dodd and Robert Miller.

Burial in Mt. Pleasant cemetery by Shannon & Hill.

Not now but in the coming years, it may be in the better land, We'll read the meaning of our tears.

And there, some time we'll understand.

Then trust in God through all the day.
Fear not, for he doth hold thy hand;
Though dark the way, still sing and praise:
Some time, some time, we'll understand.
